The Fix Analysis

A ruling on Trump’s word choice: Speech that incites violence is not protected

A federal judge in Kentucky ruled against efforts to throw out a lawsuit that accused Donald Trump of inciting violence against protesters during a campaign rally in March 2016. The protesters, who were shoved and punched by Trump supporters, said the Republican repeatedly said, “Get ’em the hell out.” The case is merely the latest example of Trump’s team arguing that his words shouldn’t be taken literally.

At U-Va., a ‘watch list’ flags VIP applicants for special handling

University of Virginia fundraisers track the admission bids of children from wealthy families. The school says the group does not hold sway over admissions decisions, but their records provide a case study of what is regarded as an open secret in higher education: schools pay attention when an applicant’s family has given them money — or might in the future.
