

Trump goes big on tax overhaul plan that would affect most Americans

The president's one-page outline for changes to the tax code would reduce the current seven income tax brackets to three, cut the corporate tax rate by more than 50 percent and abolish the alternative-minimum tax and estate tax. Trump administration officials didn't address how much the plan would reduce federal revenue or grow the debt.

By Damian Paletta

- How Trump's tax proposal could benefit his own business empire

Wonkblog Analysis

In new tax plan, Trump promises to do what Reagan couldn't

The president's advisers touted the proposed tax cuts as the start of an economic renaissance that would supercharge the U.S. economy and pare the federal debt, but economists were very skeptical that the plan could deliver the level of growth Trump promised.

By Max Ehrenfreund

- Six ways the plan could affect ordinary taxpayers

Trump tells leaders of Mexico, Canada that he won't pull out of NAFTA 'at this time'

The White House said the president spoke with Mexican President Enrique Peña Nieto and Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau, who both "agreed to proceed swiftly, according to their required internal procedures, to enable the renegotiation" of the trade deal.

By Damian Paletta and Todd C. Frankel

Far-right candidate Marine Le Pen waves to supporters in northern France on Wednesday. (European Pressphoto Agency)

Marine Le Pen's narrow path to French victory: Get opponents to stay home

With opinion polls indicating she is up to 20 points behind centrist Emmanuel Macron in the race to become France's next president, Marine Le Pen is pulling a page from Donald Trump's improbable victory playbook: encouraging disillusioned left-wing voters to stay home.

By Michael Birnbaum

- The key storylines in France's presidential runoff

From 'build that wall' to kick the can: Trump's border promise might be hard to break

Trump's promise to build an "impenetrable, physical, tall, powerful, beautiful southern border wall" paid for by Mexico was his most vivid campaign promise, and failing to quickly follow through carries real political risks for the president.

By Jenna Johnson and Sean Sullivan

- President's plan for a border wall is literally on shaky ground

Opinions

Trump's greatest single achievement almost never gets mentioned

By E.J. Dionne Jr.

Trump's tax plan is built on a fairy tale

By Douglas Holtz-Eakin

Will France elect its own Barack Obama?

By George F. Will

Trump has set out to protect lumber workers. Instead, he's helping lobbyists.

By Charles Lane

In praise of President Trump (really)

By Dana Milbank

The nation's capital, where children live in fear

Editorial Board

More Top Stories

GOP introduces short-term spending bill to delay shutdown threat

The short-term spending measure, which would extend current funding levels beyond the end of this week, comes as negotiators are nearing an agreement on a budget to keep the government open through the end of September.

By Kelsey Snell

United's report on dragging incident 'shows that many things went wrong that day'

The airline says it allowed internal policies to distract from the need to treat passengers with dignity and respect. The report was prompted by the violent removal of a passenger from an overbooked flight after he refused to give up his seat for off-duty crew.

By Lori Aratani

House conservatives endorse latest plan to revise Obamacare

The influential Freedom Caucus rallied behind the plan after it was endorsed by three conservative advocacy groups. The move shifts political pressure onto GOP moderates to determine the effort's fate.

By Elise Viebeck, David Weigel and Sean Sullivan

- Republicans look to undo health-care loophole that appears to benefit members of Congress and staff

Fact Checker Analysis

Ivanka Trump's claim that for half of U.S. families, 'the single largest expense is child care'

The president's daughter highlights an important issue. But she would be on more solid ground if she focused on families with young children.

By Glenn Kessler

Website aims to help women self-induce abortions using drugs

Advocates see such services as a way to overcome legal hurdles erected by antiabortion lawmakers, but opponents say the drugs are dangerous and need accompanying medical care.

By Sandhya Somashekhar

Administration talks tough on North Korea, but frustrated lawmakers want details

Senators departing the briefing expressed frustration that the administration shared few details of its current policy on North Korea and its plans to deal with the country as it continues developing its nuclear weapons program.

By David Nakamura and Ed O'Keefe

Breast-feeding mom told to cover up at Va. church to not make men, teens 'uncomfortable'

She was asked to move to a private room or cover up, which violates a Virginia law that says women have the right to breast-feed anywhere they have a legal right to be.

By Michael Alison Chandler and Laura Vozzella

The rise and fall — or maybe renewal? — of the White House correspondents' dinner

After more than a decade of celebrity glitz and lavishly underwritten partying, Saturday's White House Correspondents' Association dinner is shaping up to be a slimmed-down, more sober, slightly dowdier affair. And for some longtime attendees — that's just fine.

By Amy Argetsinger

- Trump's attacks on media blamed for decline in U.S. standing in press-freedom survey

'Other: Mixed Race in America'

How multiracial Americans reflect the broader state of U.S. race relations

Starting Monday, hear a new episode of The Post's five-part podcast each morning: five stories about families, inheritance and who is really "American." Listen to this introduction — and subscribe to get each new episode as soon as it's available.

By Alex Laughlin

Share news tips with us confidentially

Do you have information the public should know? Here are some ways you can securely send information and documents to Post journalists.

Learn more »

Visual Stories

Morning Mix

(AP/Scranton Times & Tribune)

'Murder in his heart': Eric Frein, sniper-killer of Pa. trooper, sentenced to death

By Fred Barbash

'Bachelor' Chris Soules arrested after deadly crash that killed Iowa farmer

Detroit-area doctors indicted in 'brutal' genital mutilation case

'We have to take a stand': Mormon history scholars file brief against Trump travel ban

Most Read

- White House unveils dramatic plan to overhaul tax code in major test for Trump
- Analysis
Ivanka Trump's claim that for half of U.S. families, 'the single largest expense is child care'
- Trump administration talks tough on North Korea, but frustrated lawmakers want details
- Trump says no plan to pull out of NAFTA 'at this time'
- ESPN's massive round of layoffs continue into the evening

Today's Paper

Today's print stories

View e-Replica edition

Market Watch

DJIA -0.1% NASDAQ -0%

Co. name or symbol

Last Update: 04/27/2017(DJIA&NASDAQ)

Get quote

Live Discussions

Show more

Weekly schedule, past shows

E-book

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. Months later, he had donated far less than he pledged. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.

Diversions

Comics	Eggz
Crosswords	Horoscopes
Mah Jongg	Solitaire
Sudoku	TV listings

From Our Advertisers

Content from Bank of America
How green bonds work

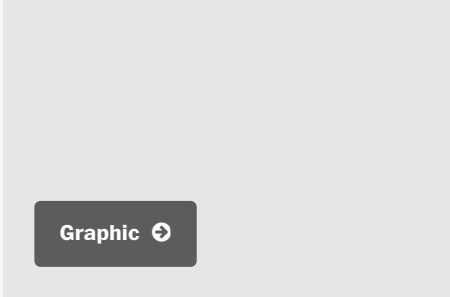

Content from National Association of Realtors®
The Disruptors: Changing forces are shaping today's real estate market

Content from Sub-Zero
Wasted Yet Wanted

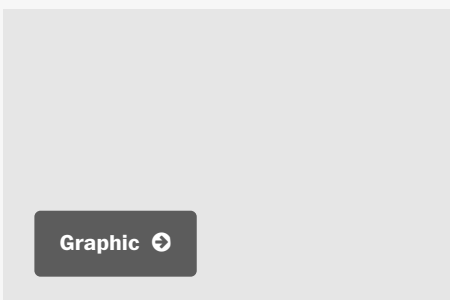

(David Maurice Smithy/Pulitzer Center)

What life is like in this Canadian town known for its suicide epidemic

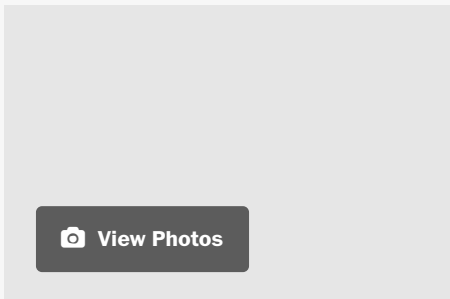

(Ana Swanson, Ted Mellnik and Darla Cameron/The Post)

The places in America most exposed to a trade war

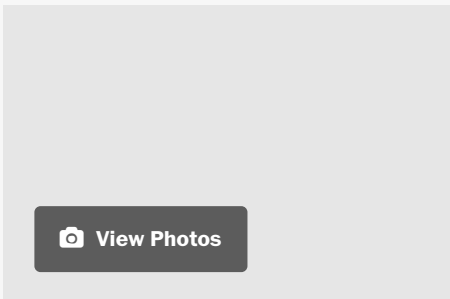

(Reuben Fischer-Baum/The Post)

Which NFL teams make the smartest draft picks?

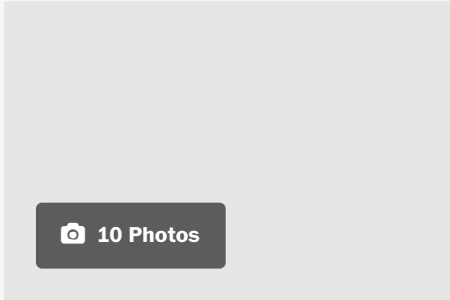

(Toru Hanai/Reuters)

Here are 20 of the week's best photos

(Chuck Kennedy/Chuck Kennedy)

What the Obamas have been doing since they left the White House

(Jesse Allen/NASA Earth Observatory)

An incredible look at national parks from space

Politics

Analysis
Kellyanne Conway and the White House's 100-day alternative facts

House Democrats to force vote on bill requiring Trump to release his taxes, visitor logs

Analysis
So far, Trump is really struggling as a chief executive

Trump's first 100 days: Ambitious proposals to reshape taxes, trade, the internet and more

World

Iran's top diplomat says you should ignore Trump's comments on the nuke deal

Pope Francis arriving in Egypt at a time of great fear among Christians

Analysis
In Venezuela and Turkey, strongmen fear the limits of their power

Turkey deports foreigners working with Syrian refugees

National

Analysis
A U.S. senator says a man wearing a tutu 'kind of asks for it'

The world needs more humanity if it's going to solve the refugee crisis, activists urge at TED conference

This is not aliens. It's an aurora named Steve. (Seriously.)

Google made a doodle for doomed Cassini, and space lovers are losing their minds

PostEverything

Perspective
People think juice is good for them. They're wrong.

Perspective
I have a clarifying question for Dr. Sebastian Gorka

Perspective
So what if protesters are paid?

Perspective
When talking about Trump's corporate rate reduction, do not forget pass-throughs

Local

Metro workers planning 'sick-out' Friday

Order your beer in peace: D.C. licenses will no longer say 'District of Columbia'

New law orders Va. insurers to cover 12-month supply of birth-control pills

Hogan to eulogize his father, Lawrence Hogan Sr., at funeral Mass on Saturday

Sports

Their bullpen already reeling, Nats place Koda Glover on 10-day disabled list

Charles Barkley, Scott Van Pelt lament ESPN's mass firings

Marshawn Lynch got Charles Woodson's blessing to wear No. 24 with Raiders

TV and radio listings: April 27

Lifestyle

Perspective
Jonathan Demme, the last of the great journeyman directors

Trending: 'Commuter Barbie' is a parody masterpiece; these Dorito bags play cassette tapes

Trump's attacks on media blamed for decline in U.S. standing in press-freedom survey

Perspective
Carolyn Hax: The sex is casual but the trust is fraught

Arts

Howard Theatre moves to terminate contract with operator as debts mount

Review
Yefim Bronfman, a pianist who lets the music speak for itself

Analysis
From Manson to O.J.: A new exhibit spotlights the fading art of the courtroom sketch

Rounding up some unusual suspects: Michael Dirda's mystery book picks

Technology

Perspective
Everything that's wrong with FaceApp, the latest creepy photo app for your face

Google made a doodle for doomed Cassini, and space lovers are losing their minds

Analysis
A new gadget from Amazon wants to help you pick out your outfit

5 apps to help grads start saving and investing

Business

Analysis
Here's how many people have to pay the estate tax that Trump wants to dump

Bono joins investors backing this D.C. tech company as it tackles alcohol abuse, opioid addiction and more

The FCC just released a plan to undo its own net neutrality rules

Read the latest from Capital Business

Federal Government

Real Estate

Perspective
Trump drags feet on political appointees, lags behind predecessors

Federal employee pay, benefits ahead of private sector on average, CBO concludes

Perspective
Trump's first 100 days: How have feds and their agencies fared?

Perspective
Support grows for small agency with big reach on Trump's budget death row

Chevy Chase Lake townhouses draw inspiration from brownstones in New York and Chicago

New home-accessory, furniture-customizing store opens in Old Town

Analysis
Living in family home doesn't guarantee ownership rights to it

How to avoid rookie mistakes when installing porch steps