

Showdown looms over money for border wall as budget deadline nears

President Trump and his top aides pressed congressional Republicans to use the threat of a government shutdown to win funding for a wall along the U.S.-Mexico border, an effort that could lead to a standoff with lawmakers in both parties ahead of Friday's deadline to pass a spending bill.

Inside Trump’s obsession with cable TV

For the president — a reality TV star who parlayed his blustery-yet-knowing on-air persona into a winning political brand — television is often the guiding force of his day, both weapon and scalpel, megaphone and news feed. And his obsession with the tube has upended the traditional rhythms of the White House.

Fearing a far-right president in France, European leaders break with tradition and weigh in on election

The decision to throw support behind pro-Europe candidate Emmanuel Macron represents a gamble for the continent’s powers-that-be. Some fear it will only fan the flames of anti-establishment ire that have propelled Marine Le Pen and the far right’s rise.

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. But by the time he won the New Hampshire primary, he had stopped giving away money and had donated far less than his pledged amount. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.
