

When The Border Is Just Next-Door, Crossing It Is A Fact Of (Daily) Life

The two Nogales — one in Arizona, the other in Mexico — are in separate countries, but to the people who live there, they feel like one place: a border city.

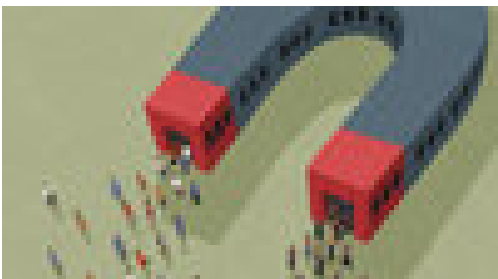

Photo: Getty Images

Trump Team Urges Skimpier Health Plans To Lure More People To Buy Insurance

KAISER HEALTH NEWS

A rule proposed by the Trump administration would likely raise the deductibles and copays of new policies sold on the exchanges, starting next fall. Monthly premiums would likely be cheaper.

John H. Johnson/Photo: Getty Images

LATEST FROM NPR NEWS

North Carolina Tops Gonzaga In Messy NCAA Championship

Court Rejects Lawsuit Against Mississippi State Flag's Confederate Symbolism

Florida Governor Pulls Murder Cases From Prosecutor Who Shuns Death Penalty

Democrats Have The Votes To Filibuster Gorsuch And Force 'Nuclear' Senate Showdown

Recall Of Some EpiPens Extends To U.S.

MORE NEWS

LATEST NEWSCAST

Listen - 5:00

CONNECT WITH NPR

Podcast Directory

Email Newsletters

NPR on Facebook

@npr on Twitter

Justice Department To Review All Civil Rights Agreements On Police Conduct

The order by Attorney General Jeff Sessions and the bid to reassess an agreement in Baltimore may signal that the Trump administration plans to scale back investigations and reopen past deals.

Jeff Sessions/Photo: AP

Change To Trump's Trust Lets Him Tap Business Profits

President Trump's lawyer said the trust isolates the real estate mogul from his business interests. A document from the trust says he can take out money whenever he wants.

Donald Trump/Photo: AP

Trump Ethics Monitor: Has The President Kept His Promises?

Why Do Some South Koreans Believe A Myth That North Koreans Have Horns?

Researchers say the belief some South Koreans hold that North Koreans — who are the same ethnicity as South Koreans — are beast-like is a product of years of propaganda and misleading education.

AP/Photo: AP

Harrison Ford May Keep Flying, FAA Investigation Concludes

After actor Harrison Ford landed his small plane on a taxiway, rather than a runway, at John Wayne Airport in Orange County, Calif., in February, the FAA began looking into the incident.

Photo: Getty Images/Photo: AP

Mayte Garcia Knew She Would Marry Prince, But Could Never Have Predicted How

In her new book, The Most Beautiful, Garcia explains how an unlikely meeting at one of the pop icon's concerts sparked a relationship full of love, surprises and, ultimately, heartbreak.

Photo: Getty Images/Photo: AP

North Carolina Tops Gonzaga In Messy NCAA Championship

It was expected to be a fast-paced, competitive showdown for two of the best players in the country, but thanks to tough defenses it became a foul-laden slog. UNC finally won the Bulldogs, 71-63.

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

Bertha Finally Breaking Through

After a two-year delay for repairs, Seattle's giant tunnel-boring machine is on the verge of completing its mission for beneath the city's streets.

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

The Dust-Up Over Gibraltar: What's The Big Deal About The Little Peninsula?

Anger, frustration, even an unsolicited suggestion of war — there's been some heated talk lately between the U.K. and Spain about a single rock. Here's a primer on what all the fuss is about.

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

Carrying Some Extra Pounds May Not Be Good After All

A new study finds that people who are overweight, but not obese, have shorter life spans. It's the opposite of a 2015 study that got a lot of attention by finding a few pounds might be good for you.

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

Court Rejects Lawsuit Against Mississippi State Flag's Confederate Symbolism

A black Mississippi resident sued the state, saying the use of the Confederate battle flag amounted to state-sanctioned racial discrimination. The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has dismissed the suit.

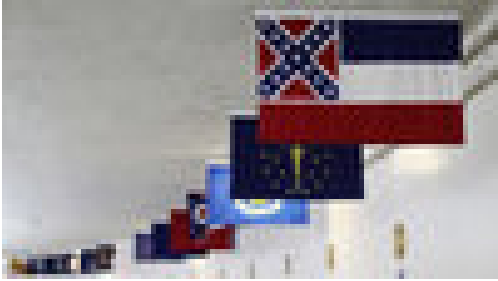

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

How Russian Twitter Bots Pumped Out Fake News During 2016 Election

Clint Watts, a former FBI agent, describes a diffuse network of Russian hackers and propagandists conducting a misinformation campaign that didn't stop with the election of President Trump.

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

Sorting Out The Congressional Russia Investigations

Photo: AP/Photo: AP

The Big Dreams Of A First-Time Farmer

Faith is an HIV counselor in Kenya, but her salary is low. So this spring, she's planting kale and other veggies in the hope of a cash crop. And learning some life lessons along the way.

Florida Governor Pulls Murder Cases From Prosecutor Who Shuns Death Penalty

Gov. Rick Scott is reassigning 21 first-degree murder cases from State Attorney Aramis Ayala, who says seeking capital punishment is not in the best interest of justice.

Charles Seaver/PHD on Getty Images

THE TWO-WAY - NEWS BLOG

NHL Won't Play Nice With 2018 Winter Olympics

Although NHL players have expressed a desire to once again play in the Winter Olympics, league officials say they won't be halting the season to make time for the 2018 Games in South Korea.

Getty Images/PHD on Getty Images

THE RECORD

Kishori Amonkar, Leading Indian Classical Vocalist, Dies At Age 84

A musician's musician who shunned the spotlight, Amonkar was a revered singer in the Hindustani (North Indian) tradition. According to Indian press reports, she died Monday after a brief illness.

PHOTO/PHD on Getty Images

MOVIE INTERVIEWS

Documentarian Says 'Anarchist Cookbook' Author Was Filled With Remorse

But remorse and regret are two different things. William Powell's 1970s book contains instructions for making explosives. Charlie Siskel interviewed him for his filmAmerican Anarchist.

Copyright of Charlie Siskel

Logout | Edit

more stories

news >

arts & life >

music >

back to top

homepage news

arts & life

music

programs

about

help

contact

terms of use

privacy

sponsorship choices

text-only

© 2017 npr