

POLITICS

The Senate Could Go ‘Nuclear’ This Week. What Does That Mean?

A potentially historic and consequential week lies ahead in the United States Senate, where Republicans stand ready to invoke the “nuclear option” to confirm Neil Gorsuch to the Supreme Court.

ALL TECH CONSIDERED

Self-Driving Cars Raise Questions About Who Carries Insurance

Currently, insurance rates are calculated based on drivers’ claims histories and driving records. Driverless cars are expected to shift the liability toward carmakers. But it won’t happen all at once.

LATEST FROM NPR NEWS

South Carolina Takes Its First Women’s NCAA Basketball Title

Louisiana Mother And Her 3-Year-Old Daughter Are Killed In Tornado

Ikutaro Kakehashi, Founder Of Roland, Dies At 87

14-Year-Old Charged In Sexual Assault Broadcast On Facebook Live

Why The Freedom Caucus Shouldn’t Worry About Primary Threats From President Trump

MORE NEWS >

LATEST NEWSCAST

Listen · 5:00

CONNECT WITH NPR

Podcast Directory

Email Newsletters

NPR on Facebook

@npr on Twitter

ANIMALS

Some Wildlife Photographers Use Bait, But Is It Worth The Shot?

MINNESOTA PUBLIC RADIO

Photos of an owl swooping in with wings wide, eyes glowing and talons outstretched might not really be because of chance. Photographers using mice to lure the owls have caused a fierce debate.

SHOTS - HEALTH NEWS

What Do Hanson And Madonna Have In Common? Hits Ideal For Saving A Life

A New York City hospital has created a playlist of songs with the ideal tempo for CPR, although previous research suggests there is more to good chest compressions than just the right tempo.

POLITICS

Beyond The Mike Pence Misogyny Debate, The 3 ‘Billy Graham Rules’ You Haven’t Read

Like the famous preacher, the vice president won’t dine alone with a woman other than his wife. But Graham, pastor to the presidents, had other rules, like don’t inflate the size of your crowds.

POLITICS

Trump Says GOP Unity Will Revive Obamacare Repeal, After Attacking House Conservatives

Trump pushes for policy changes, reacts to news and sets his agenda on Twitter. NPR provides analysis of key remarks from the president as they come.

THE TWO-WAY - NEWS BLOG

South Carolina Takes Its First Women’s NCAA Basketball Title

The lady Gamecocks earned their first national basketball title with a 67-55 win over Mississippi State. It’s also a first for former college player, Coach Dawn Staley.

Eric Gay/AP

INTERVIEWS

‘Brave New Workers’: A Burning Desire To Get A Medicinal Marijuana License

What happens to workers when an industry fails, new technology takes off? NPR brings you stories of Americans adapting to a changing economy. This week: Leaving the black cannabis market to go legal.

Listen · 6:22 Queue

BOOK NEWS & FEATURES

With This Publisher, Native American Superheroes Fly High

Native Realities Press exclusively publishes Native American-made comics, graphic novels and games — including a reboot of Tribal Force, widely considered the first all-Native superhero comic book.

SPORTS

Meet Two Race Sleuths Trying to Keep Marathoners Honest

Spring is a busy season for runners — and for the sleuths sniffing out race cheats. With an eye on the Boston Marathon, amateur investigator’s use math and methodology to protect the sport’s integrity.

MUSIC INTERVIEWS

Vince Staples: ‘We Live In A Space Where Your Name Isn’t Enough’

“You can’t find a Jay Z article where they don’t speak about him selling drugs,” the Long Beach rapper says. “You can’t find a Vince Staples article where it doesn’t say ‘ex-gang member.’ ”

Listen · 8:27 Queue

#NRPoetry Month: Vince Staples Reads His Favorite Twitter Poems

POLITICS

A Presidency Stalled And Sputtering

President Trump hasn’t moved beyond executive actions, something a president normally resorts to when he can’t get anything done legislatively. That’s not a good sign for Trump’s agenda.

Republicans ‘Turn The Cannons On Each Other’ In Week Of Public Feuding

Judge Approves $25 Million Settlement Of Trump University Lawsuit

POLITICS

Why The Freedom Caucus Shouldn’t Worry About Primary Threats From President Trump

The reality is that defeating an incumbent is hard work — it not only takes recruiting viable candidates but helping them with fundraising and campaign infrastructure.

SHOTS - HEALTH NEWS

With Obamacare Here to Stay, Some States Revive Medicaid Expansion

The failure of the Republican health care plan gave new energy to state-level efforts to expand Medicaid. We look at three states where that may happen — Kansas, Maine and Virginia.

Listen · 4:18 Queue

PARALLELS - WORLD NEWS

From Wristwatches To Radio, How World War I Ushered In The Modern World

The war is remembered for trench warfare, millions of deaths and the failure to bring lasting peace. But it also brought together emerging technologies, remaking life on and off the battlefield.

Listen · 3:45 Queue

GOATS AND SODA

Short Film: How Water Gets From The Nile To Thirsty Refugees

Hundreds of thousands of refugees have fled the civil war in South Sudan and resettled in Uganda. This 12-minute documentary shows the daily struggle to get water.

AROUND THE NATION

Pastor Raises Money To Buy Out Liquor Stores Near Reservations

For a small population, Whiteclay, Neb., sells a lot of beer, mostly to the nearby Pine Ridge Reservation. But now, as the liquor stores look to sell, a pastor is trying to buy them out.

Listen · 3:42 Queue

MUSIC INTERVIEWS

Jackie Evancho On Speaking Out Through Music

Since her performance at President Trump’s inauguration, the 16-year-old vocalist has advocated for transgender rights and released Two Hearts, which includes some of her first original songs.

Listen · 7:24 Queue

AROUND THE NATION

Before Cars Come In, Bikes Accompany Bison In Yellowstone

MONTANA PUBLIC RADIO

Yellowstone National Park is often overwhelmed by cars. But right now, only bicycles are allowed on some popular park roads. But bikers have to be ready to dodge bears, wolves and other wildlife.

Listen · 3:22 Queue

more stories

news

arts & life

music

back to top

© 2017 npr