

Congress reaches deal to keep government open through Sept.

The bipartisan agreement includes policy victories for Democrats, whose votes will be necessary to pass the measure in the Senate. The agreement follows weeks of tense negotiations between Democrats and GOP leaders after President Trump insisted on funding for a new border wall and later dropped that demand.

The 8 most notable areas Trump caved in his first big spending negotiation

Democrats are surprised by just how many concessions they extracted in the trillion-dollar deal, considering that Republicans have unified control of the government. Democratic leaders Charles Schumer and Nancy Pelosi quickly put out celebratory statements last night. Republican leaders Mitch McConnell and Paul Ryan did not.

God, guns and Russia: How the GOP right found allies in Moscow

From gun rights to terrorism to same-sex marriage, many leading advocates on the right who grew frustrated with their country's leftward tilt under President Barack Obama have forged ties with well-connected Russians and come to see Vladimir Putin as a potential ally.

Fact Checker Analysis

During President Trump's first 100 days, he made 488 false or misleading claims

Trump has earned 16 Four-Pinocchio ratings as president. But that number obscures the pace and volume of the president's misstatements, and we cannot possibly keep up.

In a deep-red state ruled by Koch money, can yard sales help Democrats win?

Although they lost the election to take Mike Pompeo's seat in Congress, Democrats were invigorated to see that Sedgwick County, home of Republican mega-donor Charles Koch, voted for their candidate for the first time in decades. Now they're working to build on that momentum, one yard sale at a time.

A Florida Republican's retirement brings good news for Democrats

Rep. Ileana Ros-Lehtinen won't run for reelection in a district that went for Hillary Clinton by more than 20 percentage points. It's a seat Democrats absolutely have to flip in order to win back the House.

A dinner for Supreme Court justices at the White House? That could get awkward.

It's unclear whether the justices will dine at the executive mansion after the event was scrubbed from the president's schedule. If they do ever get together, there would be plenty to talk about — or, perhaps, to avoid.

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. Months later, he had donated far less than he pledged. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.
