

First 100 Days

After a tumultuous start, Trump hopes for a smoother agenda on jobs, taxes

But the next few months will not get any easier for the president. While Republicans have control of Congress and set the agenda, they have few opportunities to pass partisan priorities before turning to a series of complicated subjects that require bipartisan action.

The Take Analysis

Republicans are tethered to Trump politically and need to act accordingly

Midterm losses in the House are the norm for the party in power, and the president isn't helping the GOP's cause.

Trump opens 100-day rally assailing media gathered for correspondents' dinner

The president, speaking in Harrisburg, Pa., dismissed the White House Correspondents' Association dinner as "a large group of Hollywood actors and Washington media" who he said were "consoling each other in a hotel ballroom."

With Trump absent, it's a different sort of event

Without anyone from the administration in attendance, the normally celebrity-filled event is more subdued — and it has competition from Samantha Bee's event.

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. Months later, he had donated far less than he pledged. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.
