GOP health bill on shaky ground as concerns grow about preexisting conditions

From influential Republican Rep. Fred Upton saying he opposed the party’s latest plan to an emotional story from late-night host Jimmy Kimmel that drew a response from former president Barack Obama, the growing resistance cast the proposal’s future into deeper uncertainty.

Trump is learning — and sometimes mislearning — the lessons of the presidency

Trump has increasingly cited past presidents as he ruminates about his new job, but he often gets facts wrong or comes up with interpretations sharply at odds with the historical consensus.

‘The water just took them away’

As 4-year-old Damien Wiggins, his 18-month-old sister Krystal and their mom rode in an SUV over a low-slung bridge in Arkansas, water rushed in. The mom wrapped her arms around her children, but the current was too strong. Damien's body was found Monday. Krystal was also feared dead after storms and tornadoes left a trail of death and destruction across the South and Midwest.

Ex-NFL players push a new weapon to fight pain: Medical marijuana

For decades, football players have treated pain with postgame beers, over-the-counter anti-inflammatories and powerful prescription painkillers. But some see cannabis as an effective and safer alternative, and there’s a movement to change the way the drug is viewed and regulated within the NFL.

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. Months later, he had donated far less than he pledged. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.
