After spending-bill win, Democrats confident they can block Trump agenda

By exploiting Republican divisions over spending priorities, Democrats secured nearly $5 billion in new money for domestic programs in the five-month budget deal. The lopsided victory means it will be very difficult — if not impossible — for the GOP to exert its will in future budget talks.

House Republicans continue push for a health-care deal — even if it has no hope of survival in the Senate

The messy effort to rally their party around a bill to replace big parts of the Affordable Care Act has forced House leaders to focus on one simple, political goal: pass a bill they can say repeals Obamacare to shield their members in next year's elections. But even that is proving elusive.

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. Months later, he had donated far less than he pledged. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.
