

President Trump's tweets come the day after both parties reached a spending deal that would keep the government funded through September if it passes, just days ago, he chastised Democrats for what he said was their threat to create a shutdown.

Chris Chapple/Getty Images

SHOTS - HEALTH NEWS

A Child's Suffering Drives A Mother To Seek Untested Treatments

When medication wasn't relieving her 3-year-old son's juvenile arthritis, Savannah Meadows started investigating non-medical treatments like diet and supplements.

Artwork by Savannah Meadows, 2016. Courtesy Meadows

BOOK REVIEWS

'Anything Is Possible' Explores The Unquiet Depths Of Ordinary Lives

FRESH AIR

Pulitzer Prize-winning author Elizabeth Strout explores class humiliation and loneliness in her new book. Critic Maureen Corrigan says Anything Is Possible is the work of a writer who is on her game.

Martha Coomass/AP Photo

GOATS AND SODA

This Ex-Child Soldier Went Undercover To Save The Gorillas

Rodrique Karambo has quite a resume: child soldier, park ranger, undercover agent, friend of gorillas and elephants, and now Goldman Environmental Prize winner.

THE TWO-WAY - NEWS BLOG

Tickets Sell Out To Japan's New Luxury Train, Despite Costing Thousands

If you want to travel on the Shiki-Shima train, you'll need to plan ahead: despite starting at nearly $3,000, tickets are sold out through next spring.

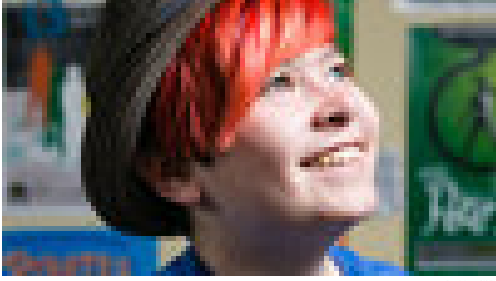

David J. Phillip/Getty Images

SHOTS - HEALTH NEWS

A New Generation Overthrows Gender

WIDE PUBLIC MEDIA

Parents, schools and elected officials are working to catch up and adapt to the needs of children and teens who don't fit into familiar gender categories.

Benjamin Sachs/ABC

THE TWO-WAY - NEWS BLOG

European Commission Says It Won't Require American Travelers To Get Visas

According to a call to end visa-free travel for Americans who want to visit Europe, the EU said progress has been made toward full reciprocity.

David J. Phillip/AP Photo

NPR ED

Under Trump Budget, Nearly 2 Million Kids May Lose After-School Care

The Trump administration says there's no evidence the program works, but supporters say that thinking is misguided. Some even call it a "godsend."

Paul Thompson/ABC

THE TWO-WAY - NEWS BLOG

Trial Of Ousted South Korean Leader Begins As Voters Mull Her Replacement

Park Geunhye's lawyers denied the idea of corruption charges against her, which could put her away for life. Meanwhile, a generational divide could determine the impeached president's successor.

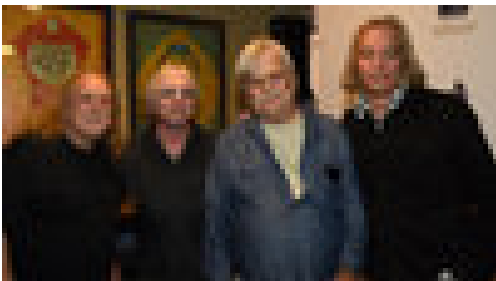

AP Photo/Seung-Hoon Cho

THAAD Missile System to South Korea Is Now Operational, U.S. Says

THE RECORD

Colonel Bruce Hampton Dies After Collapsing On Stage During His Own Birthday Concert

Colonel Bruce Hampton was being celebrated by friends and peers at Atlanta's Fox Theater when he collapsed.

Walt Whitman/ABC Photo

POLITICS

Why White Evangelicals Are 'Splintering' Politically

A new book traces the history of white evangelicals in the U.S., from the group's rebellious 19th century roots to its role as political force. We asked the author about where the movement is headed.

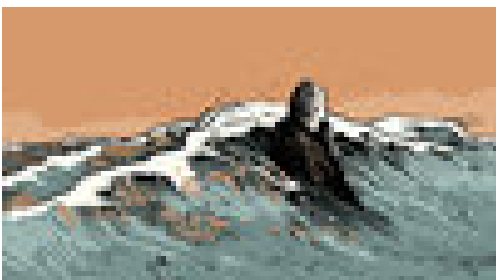

AP Photo/Mark Wilson

U.S.

Veterans At Risk Of Suicide Negotiate A Thorny Relationship With Guns

Researchers say putting guns out of reach reduces the chances that suicidal veterans could take their own lives, but changing the law is a controversial idea.

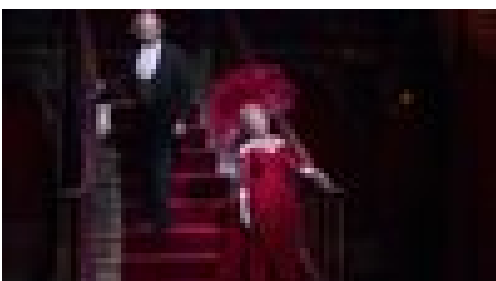

Alamy/PhotoLibrary Images Ltd

HONKEY SEE

'The Great Comet,' 'Dolly,' And 'A Doll's House' Pick Up Multiple Tony Nominations

The Tony nominations are out, and unlike last year, there's no founding-fathers-shaped giant absorbing the oxygen.

AP Photo/Chris Wedel

more stories

news >

arts & life >

music >

back to top

homepage news

arts & life

music programs about

help contact terms of use privacy sponsorship choices text-only

© 2017 npr