

Three Blasts Go Off Near German Soccer Team Bus, Injuring Player

The blasts went off before Borussia Dortmund's match Tuesday night against Monaco. The team says defender Marc Bartra sustained injuries and was transported to a hospital.

Reuters/Chris Wedel/DTT/Getty Images

Top Scientists Revamp Standards To Foster Integrity In Research

The National Academy of Sciences has toughened up its guidelines to call cutting corners, dubious statistics and not fully sharing research methods "betrayal" to science.

Photo courtesy of the author

Here's The Fine Print On The Country's Biggest-Ever Free College Plan

President's just another word for ... a full-ride scholarship, with strings attached. New York's vast new scholarship program has brought praise, and some warning.

Barry Scheraga/DTT

Fact-Check: Bernie Sanders Promises Free College. Will It Work?

Surprising And Sobering: 7 Facts About Global Health

What's an often overlooked killer in the world of global health? Why is heart disease both rising and falling? How did the Model T solve a health problem?

Photo courtesy of the author

Swedish Truck Attack Suspect Admits Guilt, His Lawyer Says

His lawyer admits, a 39-year-old Swedish national, is accused of driving a stolen truck into pedestrians before crashing into a Stockholm department store last week. Four people were killed.

Jonathan Beckstrand/DTT/Getty Images

Md. Lawmakers Vote To Allow Beekeepers To Shoot Black Bears That Threaten Hives

Bears have a taste for honey but are really after the bees "brood" eggs, larvae, and pupae — a source of protein and fat. Bee experts note that after a bear attack, a colony is unlikely to survive.

Photo by the author

After Outcry, USDA Stops Using 'Cyanide Bombs' In Idaho — For Now

An M-44 self-sustaining cyanide on a dog and his dog in Idaho last month, killing the dog and drawing petitions for removal of the device. The USDA's Wildlife Services agency has acceded to that request.

Bernard County Sheriff's Office

Amnesty Says 2016 Saw Fewer Executions But More Death Sentences

Amnesty International estimates China killed more people than all the other countries put together. The U.S. fell off the list of the top five countries to carry out the death penalty for the first time since 2006.

Photo courtesy of the author

Spinal Manipulation Can Alleviate Back Pain, Study Concludes

Physically manipulating the spine appears to offer a modestly effective alternative to medication for lower back pain, according to a new evaluation of scientific studies.

Photo courtesy of the author

Photo courtesy of the author

A World Of Flavors In A Single Dish: How Jewish Food Spread Across The Globe

Cooking legend Joan Nathan documents the worldwide reach of Jewish food in her new book, King Solomon's Table. One example is haroset, a Passover staple that's been adapted to suit many local tastes.

Asbestos Deaths Remain A Public Health Concern, CDC Finds

Exposure to the tiny fibers in asbestos can lead people who work around the material to develop mesothelioma, a cancer of the thin membranes that line the chest and abdomen.

2017 Photo courtesy of the author

More Travelers Are Being Asked For Their Cellphones And Passwords Entering U.S.

The Department of Homeland Security says such demands aren't routine and represent a fraction of those entering the country.

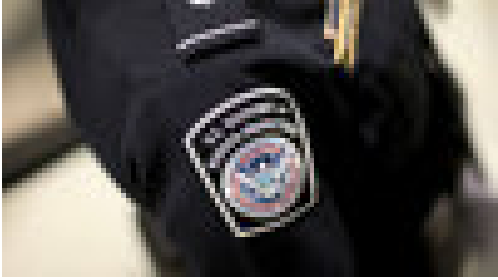

Photo courtesy of the author

more stories

news >

arts & life >

music >

back to top

