

The Washington Post

Democracy Dies in Darkness

Unicorn

Trump and his aides sow confusion with mixed signals on foreign affairs

Jarring statements on Syria, Turkey and North Korea have fostered uncertainty among lawmakers and foreign diplomats about the administration’s goals and about who speaks on its behalf.

By David Nakamura and Karen DeYoung

- Fact Checker: Trump’s claim that Korea ‘used to be a part of China’
- White House denies misleading public on carrier movements

Perspective

O’Reilly’s downfall has a good lesson for working women

Gretchen Carlson and Megyn Kelly — whose accusations sped the undoing of two of the most powerful men in media — prove there’s strength in numbers when fighting harassment.

By Margaret Sullivan

- Bill O’Reilly’s Fox News career comes to a swift end

Fact Checker

Trump’s claim that ‘no administration has accomplished more in the first 90 days’

It’s rather silly for any president to suggest that his first 100 days somehow topped Franklin D. Roosevelt’s achievement. We check the history books.

By Glenn Kessler

Roger Stone in his office in Oakland Park, Fla. (Andrew Innerarity for The Post)

Roger Stone helped Donald Trump get elected president. Now he’s helping himself.

The caustic campaigner for Nixon and Trump is back in the limelight and knee-deep in scandal as Congress threatens to haul him before a committee probing alleged Russian meddling in the 2016 election. It comes at a good time for Stone: He has a book to sell.

By Manuel Roig-Franzia

Conservative pundit Ann Coulter vows to hold Berkeley event despite university cancellation

Coulter said she would call the university’s “bluff” by agreeing to rules set by the university seeking to prevent violence. The university decided to cancel her appearance next week after assessing the violence that flared on campus in February when the same college Republican group invited right-wing provocateur and former Breitbart editor Milo Yiannopoulos to speak.

By William Wan

Opinions

No, Mr. President, you can’t do what you want

By E.J. Dionne Jr.

Bill O’Reilly is out, but don’t get too excited

By Christine Emba

The Supreme Court jumps into a playground fight over a phony war on religion

By Dana Milbank

The risks of the Trump administration hollowing out American leadership

By William J. Burns

Why Thailand’s military is trying to erase me from the Internet

By Pavin Chachavalpongpun

The March for Science could save lives

Editorial Board

More Top Stories

GM halts operations in Venezuela after factory is seized by authorities

The Detroit automaker said assets such as vehicles were taken from the plant, causing irreparable damage.

By Associated Press

- Venezuelans flood streets in big demonstration against Maduro government

In Indonesia’s capital, voters oust renowned Christian politician in show of Islamist power

The election in Jakarta was seen as a test of religious tolerance in the world’s most-populous Muslim nation.

By Jon Emont

Corporate interests, wealthy individuals boost Trump’s inaugural fundraising to record levels

Casino magnate and Republican mega-donor Sheldon Adelson donated $5 million to President Trump’s inaugural festivities, and several owners of National Football League teams gave $1 million, including Washington Redskins owner Daniel Snyder.

By Rosalind S. Helderman and John Wagner

Scientists have discovered vast systems of flowing water in Antarctica. And that worries them.

New research suggests that water flowing across Antarctica’s ice shelves could make them increasingly vulnerable to collapse as melt rates accelerate under future climate change.

By Chelsea Harvey

‘I don’t like to be touched’: Video shows autistic boy arrested at school

“I didn’t know I was going to get arrested like this,” cried 10-year-old John Benjamin Haygood as school resource officers in Florida secured handcuffs around his wrists.

By Lindsey Bever

Bose headphones have been spying on customers, lawsuit claims

Bose was taking notes on what songs and podcasts its customers were listening to without permission — and selling that information to a data mining company, the lawsuit alleges.

By Hayley Tsukayama

Perspective

Aaron Hernandez was no innocent bystander in his bloodstained life

The former New England Patriots star, who hanged himself in his prison cell, had a talent for posturing and posing that failed to compensate for the destruction that followed in his path. His death ends a stunning fall from grace.

By Sally Jenkins

- Hernandez reportedly found with ‘John 3:16’ written on his forehead

Share news tips with us confidentially

Do you have information the public should know? Here are some ways you can securely send information and documents to Post journalists.

Learn more »

Visual Stories

In Sight

(Jordi Pizarro)

These photos show what it’s like being a punk in Burma

Graphic

(Kevin Schaul and Kevin Uhrmacher/Post)

These lawmakers might want to consider crossing the aisle in the 115th Congress

Graphic

(John Muyskens, Armand Emamdjomeh and Faiz Siddiqui/Post)

Here’s where D.C. public transit can take you — and who gets left behind

View Photos

(Chris Jackson/Getty Images)

Here are 25 of the week’s best photos

Morning Mix

Infected snails, slugs and certain other animals are carriers of the parasite. (Hawaii Dept. of Health)

‘Like someone stuck an ice pick in my collarbone’: Painful rat lungworm disease on upswing in Hawaii

By Fred Barbash

Husband of New York judge who was found dead challenges reports of apparent suicide

‘Mexican heritage’ judge bashed by Trump will oversee deported ‘dreamer’ case

The country’s first drive-through marijuana shop is opening in Colorado

Richard Simmons tells fans he’s not missing, ‘just a little under the weather’

‘Environmental racism is here’: Indiana city ‘bombarded by lead’ confronts EPA chief

Most Read

1 Conservative pundit Ann Coulter vows to hold Berkeley event despite university cancellation

2 ‘I don’t like to be touched’: Video shows 10-year-old autistic boy getting arrested at school

3 U.S. defense officials may have spoken too soon, but Trump’s missing ‘armada’ finally heading to Korea

4 Analysis Trump’s claim that Korea ‘actually used to be a part of China’

5 Opinion No, Mr. President, you can’t do what you want

Today’s Paper

Today’s print stories

View e-Replica edition

Market Watch

DJIA -0.58% NASDAQ 0.23%

Co. name or symbol

Last Update: 04/20/2017(DJIA&NASDAQ)

Get quote

Live Discussions

Weekly schedule, past shows

E-book

Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting: Uncovering Trump

In February 2016, presidential candidate Donald Trump promised $6 million in donations, including $1 million from his own pocket, to charities along his campaign trail. But by the time he won the New Hampshire primary, he had stopped giving away money and had donated far less than his pledged amount. Post reporter David A. Fahrenthold went in search of the missing money and found a bigger story than he ever expected.

Diversions

Comics
Crosswords
Mah Jongg
Sudoku
Eggz
Horoscopes
Solitaire
TV listings

From Our Advertisers

Content from Bank of America
Invested in a cleaner planet

Content from Cleveland Clinic
Empathy by design: Healing the body while caring for the mind

Content from Sub-Zero
Wasted Yet Wanted

18 Photos

(Robyn Beck/AFP/Getty Images)

Photos of the spectacular and colorful ‘super bloom’ in California

View Photos

(Annie Griffiths/National Geographic Creative)

These stunning National Geographic images honor Earth Day

Politics

Democrats turn to Sanders and his star power to rebuild the party

Analysis
Racially biased people are far more likely to oppose black athletes' protests. Here's the evidence.

Analysis
Bernie Sanders's strange behavior

Analysis
Britain's Prime Minister Theresa May called a snap election. Here's what that means.

World

Venezuelans flood streets in big demonstration against Maduro government

Pakistan prime minister narrowly avoids ouster in court ruling over corruption claims

Analysis
A new poll suggests that maybe American voters and D.C. foreign policy elites aren't so different after all

A backlash against same-sex marriage tests Taiwan's reputation for gay rights

National

A ‘dreamer’ claims he was secretly deported. The government claims it never happened.

An asteroid will not destroy Earth today. But let's consider that for a moment.

Huffington Post invited the student journos who busted their principal to the White House correspondents' dinner

Antidepressants not as harmful during pregnancy as previously thought, a new study shows

PostEverything

Perspective
The attitudes about sex that doomed O'Reilly hid in plain sight for years

Perspective
A brief history of celebrity White House staffers

Perspective
Why did Putin oppose Clinton? Decades of American hypocrisy.

Perspective
Want to rescue rural America? Bust monopolies.

Local

Metro GM proposes 'new business model' and $500 million a year in extra funding to save D.C.-area transit agency

Northeast Washington man arrested in connection with robbery and beating on the Red Line

Guilty plea expected in Maryland shooting rampage case that left three dead

‘It’s scary’: Maryland man charged with trying to abduct two boys from playground

Sports

Perspective
The Caps and Wizards deliver a double-dose of desperate drama

For Russell Westbrook, trying to do it all is not a winning strategy for the Thunder

The Capitals and Wizards delivered playoff wins, but don't forget about the Nats

Washington celebrates another D.C. sports trifecta

Lifestyle

How gardeners can combat climate change

Statement coffee tables for every style and space

Perspective
‘Be brave’: Bill O'Reilly's downfall teaches a wonderful lesson to working women

Perspective
Carolyn Hax: Husband says the attraction is gone

Arts

Former Hillary Clinton speechwriter set to publish an insider account

What does rap sound like in 2017? A variety of answers from Boogie, Kemba and Kaiydo.

Meet America's most extraordinary family: The Lowells

Review
Hub Theatre's ‘The Late Wedding’ is daring, but tends toward tedious

Technology

Samsung's Galaxy S8 gives it a shot at reputation rehabilitation

D.C. appeals court poised to rule on whether police need warrants for cellphone tracking

What Windows users should know about the latest bugs revealed by NSA leakers

Analysis
What you're really agreeing to when you accept your smart TV's privacy policy

Business

Bose headphones have been spying on customers, lawsuit claims

Perspective
Want to rescue rural America? Bust monopolies.

How Facebook reacted at its annual conference to the Facebook Live murder

Read the latest from Capital Business

Federal Government

Perspective
Dueling letters from opposing groups warn Sessions on political hiring

Perspective
Despite rhetoric, Trump plan focuses more on staff cuts than good government

Perspective
Trump gets a VA headache: ‘serious deficiencies’ at D.C. hospital

Trump can start cutting the federal workforce right now

Real Estate

Converted condo buildings in Petworth designed to appeal to first-time buyers

Perspective
Why home sellers may want to be wary of a potential buyer's pre-approval letter

Four new townhouses and a historic renovated one in Alexandria list for nearly $1.5 million

Four criteria to help you determine whether a mortgage refi will save you more than it will cost you

f t RSS Archives

washingtonpost.com © 1996-2017 The Washington Post

Subscribe

Sign In

Terms of Use

Digital Products Terms of Sale
Print Products Terms of Sale
Terms of Service
Privacy Policy
Submissions and Discussion Policy
RSS Terms of Service
Ad Choices

Get Us

Home Delivery
Digital Subscription
Gift Subscriptions
Mobile & Apps
Newsletters & Alerts
Washington Post Live
Reprints & Permissions
Post Store
Photo Store
e-Replica

Contact Us

Help & Contact Info
Reader Representative
Advertise
News Service Syndicate

About Us

In the Community
Careers
PostPoints
Newspaper in Education
Digital Publishing Guidelines
Today's Paper
WP BrandStudio
Events