

 HANDSOMER

 SHARPER

 LESS EXPENSIVER

 HARRY'S

THE WIRE

- 3m ago
Wells Fargo expands settlement to include more customer accounts
- 5m ago
GE cash flow turns negative in quarter; profit, revenue beat
- 5m ago
Foreign investors have bigger worries than UK elections
- 6m ago
Ocean drift analysis shows MH370 most likely in new search area: Australian scientists
- 7m ago
UK chancellor sees strong U.S. support for bilateral trade deal
- 8m ago
Honeywell profit beats as aerospace, energy businesses deliver
- 9m ago
Syrian rebel official says government has agreed to free 500 prisoners
- 18m ago
Dutch 'blood timber' businessman gets 19 years for Liberian crimes

Trump's rocky immigration path for terror victims

In 2005, a Sri Lankan fisherman paid the Tamil Tigers separatist group $500 to be released from captivity. He eventually emigrated to the United States. But under new rules being considered by President Trump, he might not have been permitted because he "aided terrorists" by paying them for his own release.

- Document: A petition for an immigration waiver
- Document: The U.S. grants the waiver
- Graphics: Inadmissibility exemptions

Friday Morning Briefing

7:42AM EDT

France mobilized for election security after Paris attack

8:10AM EDT

Wells Fargo expands settlement to include more customer accounts

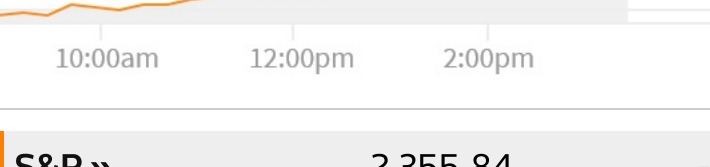

8:57AM EDT

South Korea on heightened alert as North readies for army celebration

8:02AM EDT

MARKETS

Sponsored by

STOCKS	BONDS	CURRENCIES	COMMODITIES

S&P »	2,355.84	--
Dow »	20,578.71	--
FTSE 100 »	7,125.54	+0.10%
Nikkei 225 »	18,620.75	+1.03%

Betterment

The largest automated investing service, empowering you to achieve your goals.

Lower Fees

A fraction of the cost of traditional financial services

Easy to Start

60-second rollovers and next-day deposits

EXPERIENCE SMARTER INVESTING TODAY >

SPONSORED CONTENT

Promoted By

Did You Know?
Traders from the CBOT have admitted to pranking someone by taking a trading card, folding it into a fin shape, sliding it in someone's collar, then screaming "SHARK!"

FEATURED

LEAD EXPOSURE

SPECIAL REPORT

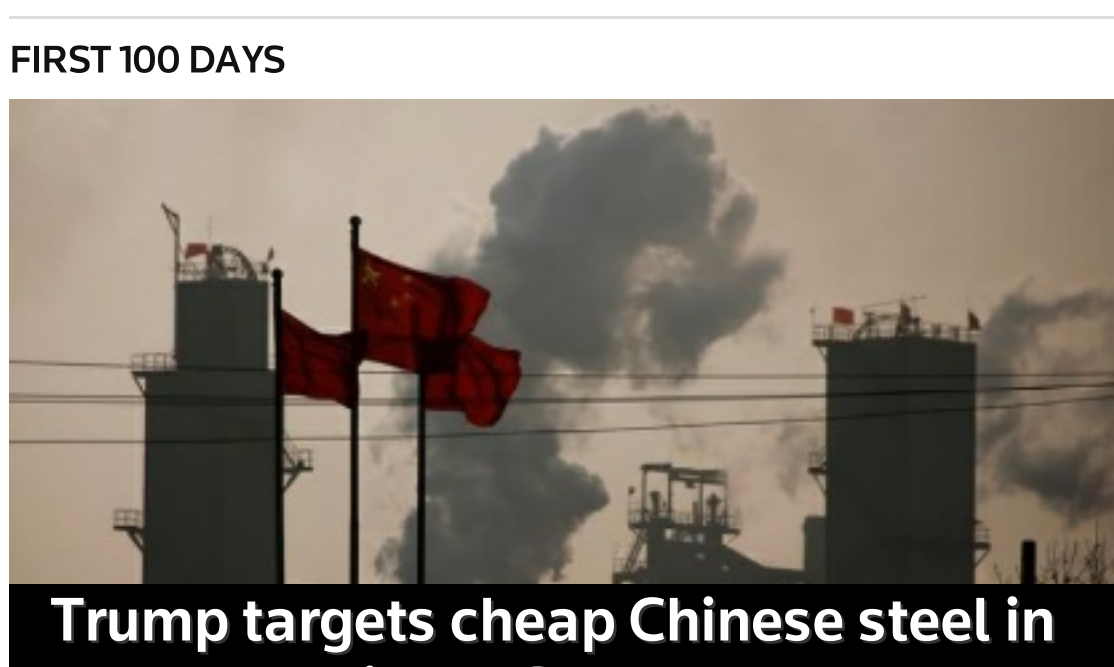

Lead hazards afflict thousands as Trump eyes funding cuts

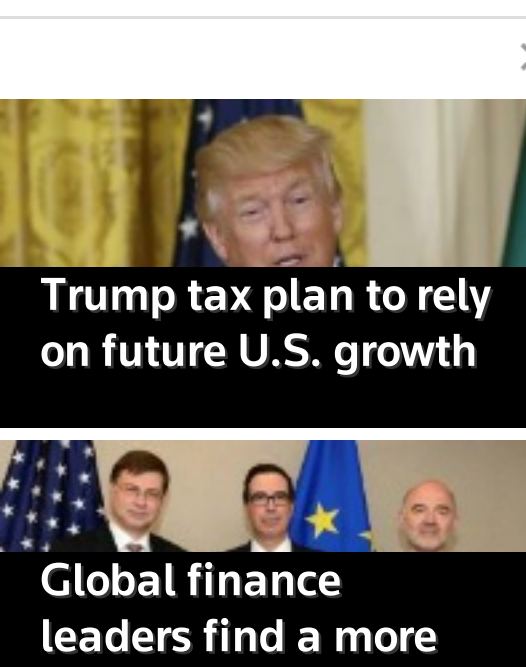

Lead's hidden toll is felt across L.A.

Unsafe at Any Level: Read the series

FIRST 100 DAYS

Trump targets cheap Chinese steel in probe, rallying U.S. steel stocks

Trump tax plan to rely on future U.S. growth

Global finance leaders find a more temperate Trump

TECHNOLOGY

Elon Musk on mission to link human brains with computers

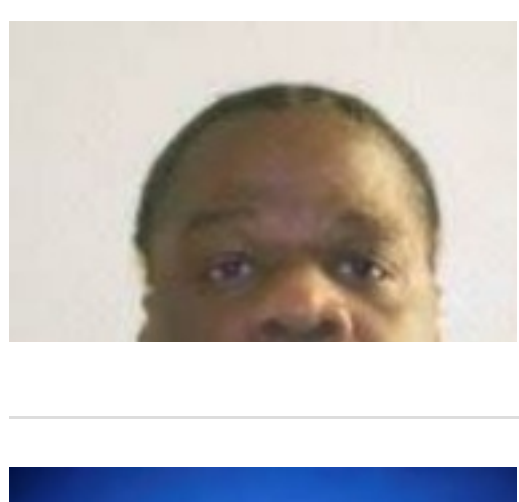

BREAKINGVIEWS

Sponsored by CFA Institute

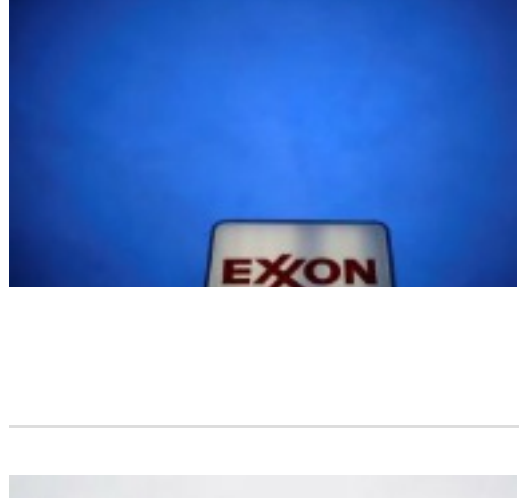

Markets are wary of new blot on Japan Inc's image

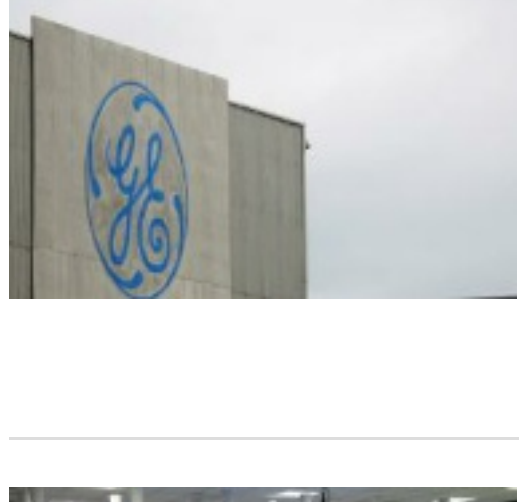

MORE TOP NEWS

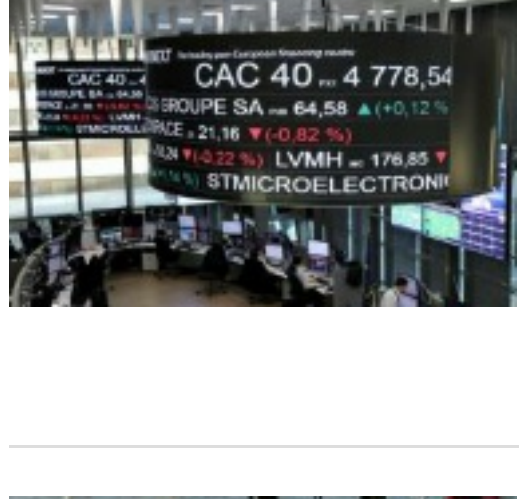

Arkansas executes inmate after U.S. Supreme Court gives go-ahead
Arkansas executed its first inmate in 12 years on Thursday after the U.S. Supreme Court rejected the inmate's request to halt the lethal injection in a late-night ruling.
8:41AM EDT

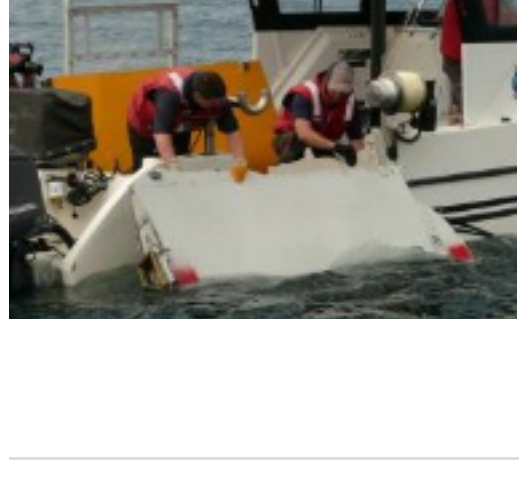

Exxon probe is unconstitutional, Republican prosecutors say
A group of 11 Republican state attorneys general are protesting an investigation into whether Exxon Mobil Corp. violated consumer protection laws when selling fossil fuel products, according to a court filing.
5:10AM EDT

GE cash flow turns negative in quarter; profit, revenue beat
General Electric Co reported on Friday that first-quarter cash flow from its industrial operations turned negative and was less than the company expected, though its earnings and revenue exceeded analyst estimates.
8:55AM EDT

What election? French yields fall, euro steadies as vote looms
Global markets appeared largely calm on Friday, the last day of trading before the first round of France's closely fought presidential election, with French bond yields hitting a three-month low and the euro trading water.
6:25AM EDT

Ocean drift analysis shows MH370 most likely in new search area: Australian scientists
A new ocean debris drift analysis shows missing Malaysia Airlines MH370 is most likely within a proposed expanded search area rejected by Australia and Malaysia in January, the Australian government's scientific agency said on Friday.
8:54AM EDT

Brexit makes campsites cool again as Britons tighten belts
Before last year's Brexit vote, Scott McCready was struggling to fill his holiday cabins on the coast of southwest England. Now the site is fully booked with British tourists avoiding more expensive foreign trips following a plunge in the pound.
5:36AM EDT

The point where cybersecurity stops the bad and frees the good.

THE HUMAN POINT.

LEARN MORE

 FORCEPOINT

Protecting the human point.

REUTERS PICTURES

Shooting on Champs Elysees in Paris

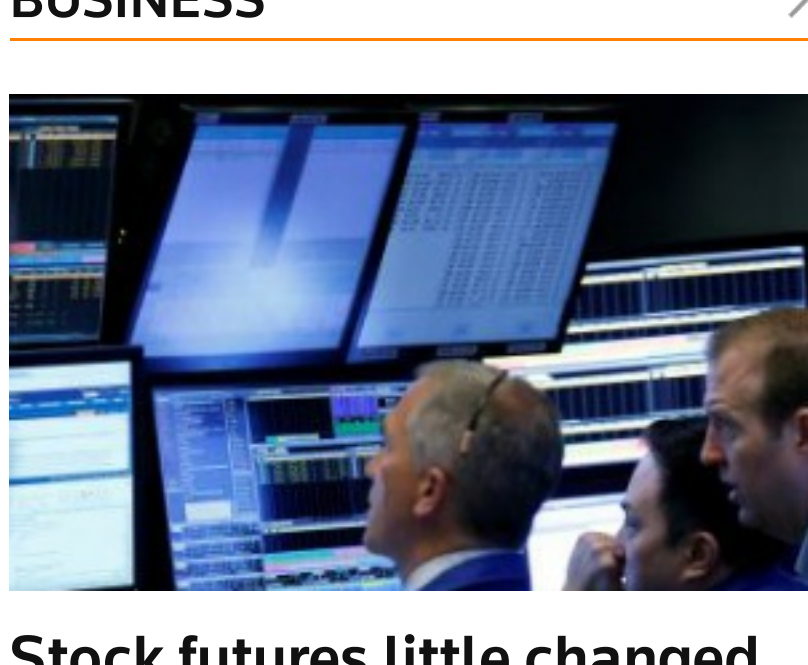

Editors Choice Pictures

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

BUSINESS

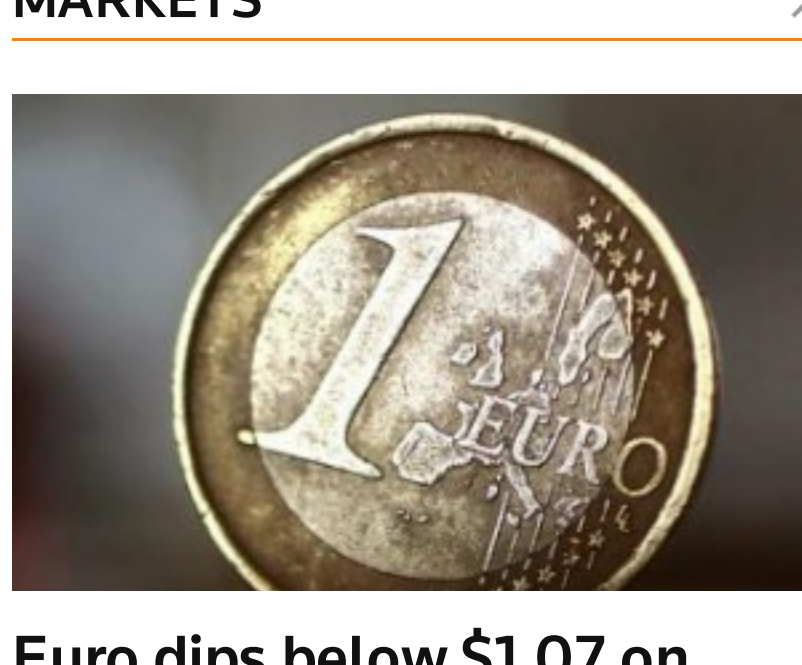

Stock futures little changed as French election in focus

Trump targets cheap Chinese steel in probe, rallying U.S. steel stocks

Honeywell profit beats as aerospace, energy businesses deliver

MARKETS

Euro dips below $1.07 on French election run-in

OPEC cut doubts put oil on track for biggest weekly drop in a month

UK chancellor sees strong U.S. support for bilateral trade deal

chandonni ORGANIC SKINCARE AND WELLNESS

WORLD

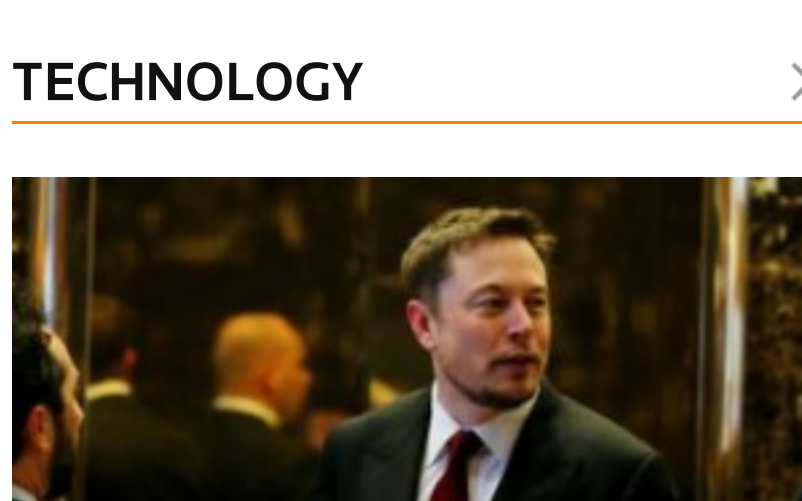

Paris gunman's criminal past in focus as police hunt second suspect

Seeking to keep up pressure, Venezuela opposition plans more protests

Evacuations of besieged Syrians resume after two-day halt

TECHNOLOGY

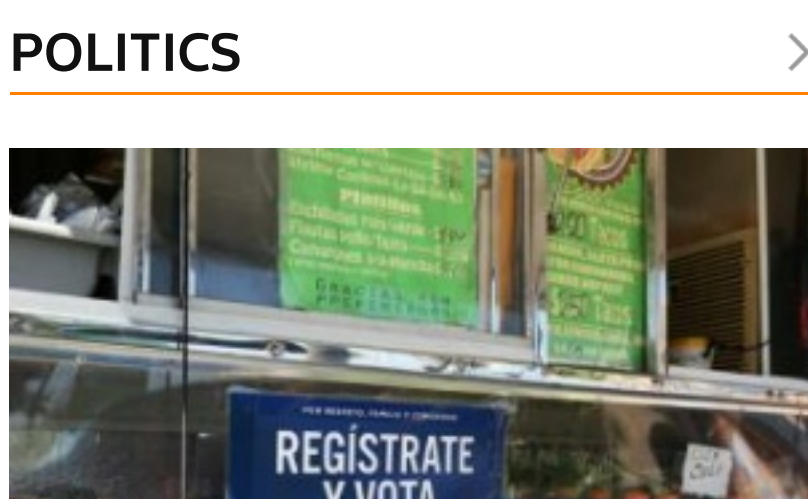

Elon Musk on mission to link human brains with computers in four years: report

Uber extends sexual harassment probe; expects report by end-May

Sony lifts annual profit estimate on lower amortization costs

POLITICS

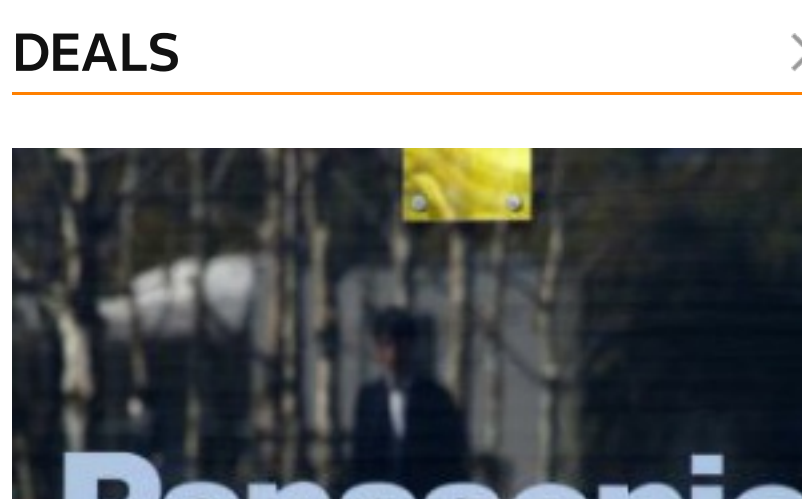

U.S. judicial panel finds Texas hurt Latino vote with redrawn boundaries

Group sues Trump for repealing U.S. wildlife rule in rare legal challenge

Trump to order U.S. Treasury to delve into taxes, post-crisis reforms

DEALS

Panasonic raises PanaHome buyout offer to appease shareholders

China Mobile, others approached for buying into Singapore telco M1: sources

UK government extends period for regulators to report on Sky/Fox merger

Editors Choice Pictures

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

Editors Choice Pictures

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

Editors Choice Pictures

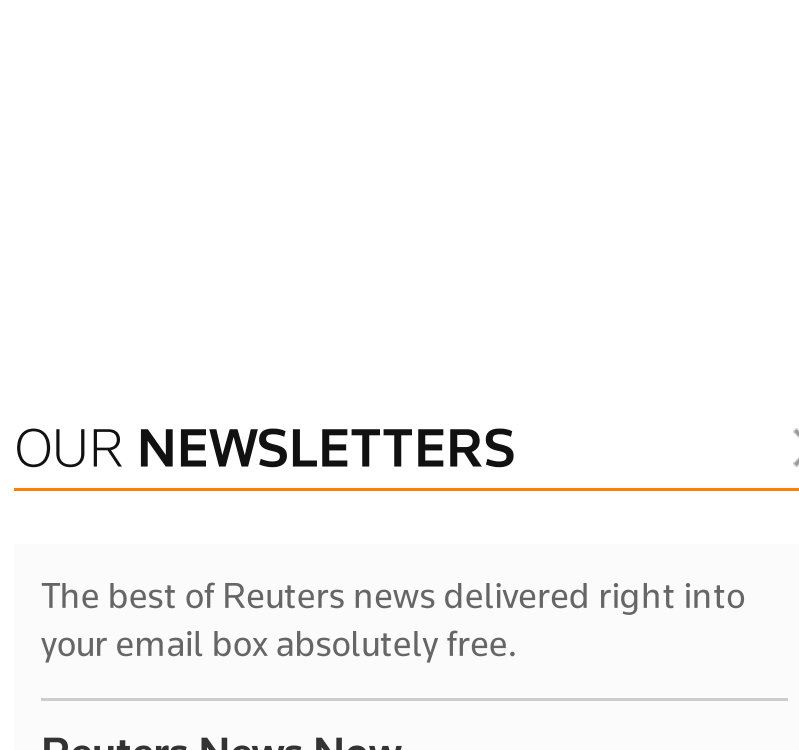

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

Editors Choice Pictures

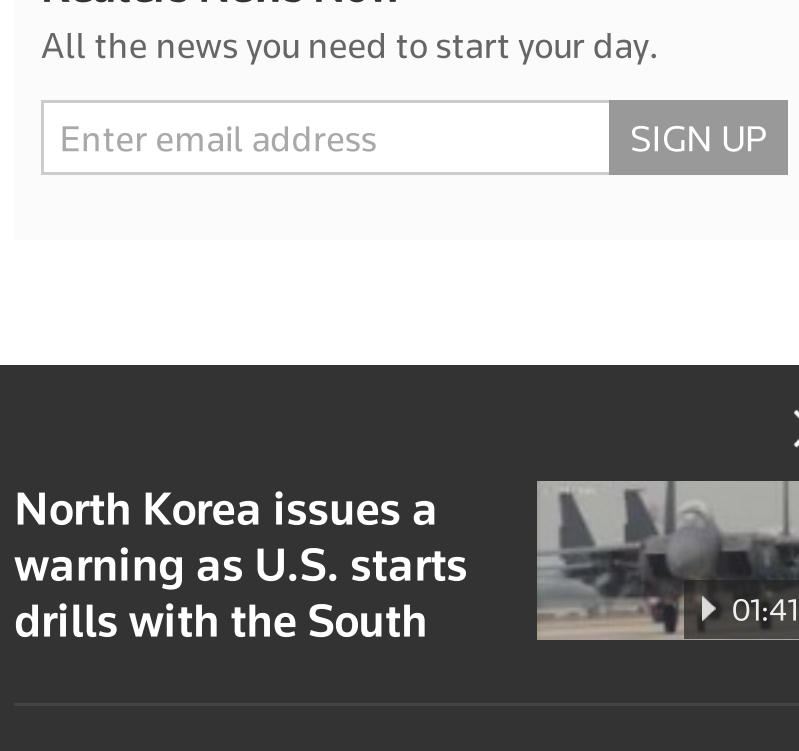

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

Editors Choice Pictures

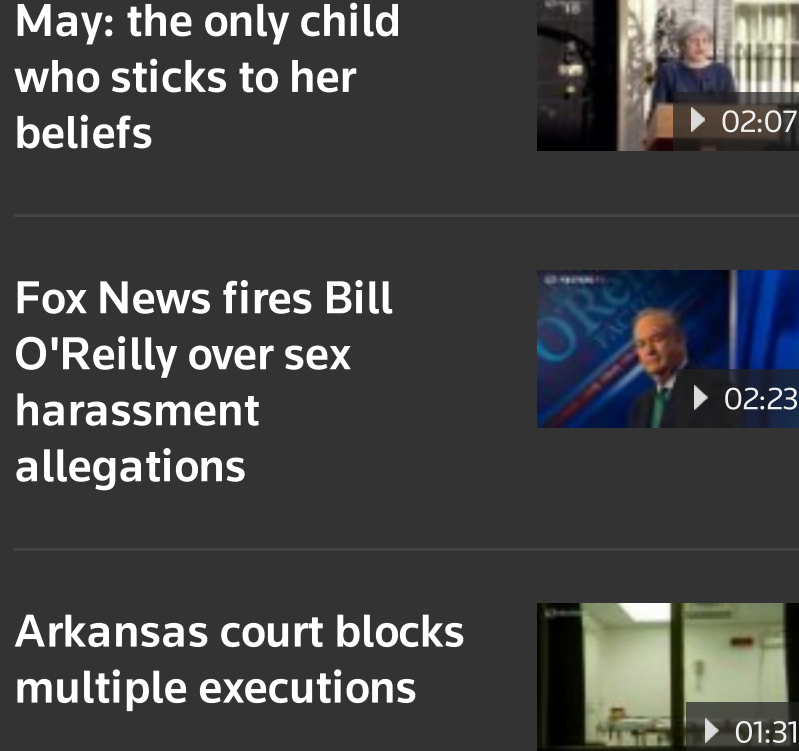

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

Editors Choice Pictures

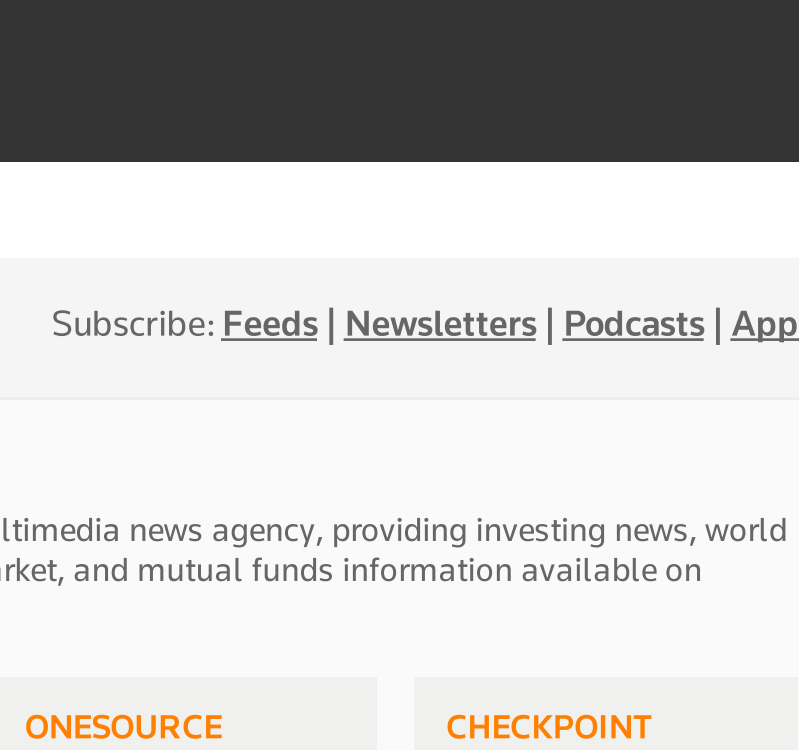

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

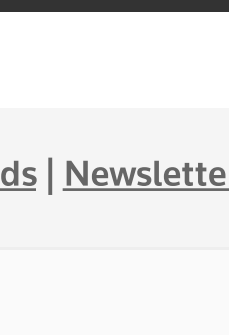

Editors Choice Pictures

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

Editors Choice Pictures

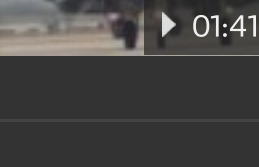

Business and pleasure in Cuba's cockfighting arenas

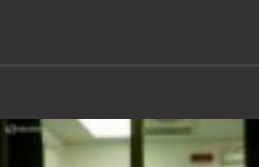

REUTERS VIDEO

Scientists take quantum leap with computer blueprint
An international team of scientists believe their blueprint for a quantum computer will prove as disruptive a technology as the personal computer. Jim Drury has more.

North Korea issues a warning as U.S. starts drills with the South

▶ 01:41

May: the only child who sticks to her beliefs

▶ 02:07

Fox News fires Bill O'Reilly over sex harassment allegations

▶ 02:23

Arkansas court blocks multiple executions

▶ 01:31