Paris Reeling After Terror Attack as Election Nears

By ADAM NOSSITER 7:19 PM ET

- The attack by a French national with a history of violence, which left one police officer dead on the Champs-Élysées, may influence Sunday's vote.
- The far-right leader Marine Le Pen seized on the brazen assault, but she was not the only presidential candidate who stood to gain ground.

25m Frank Artiles, a Florida state senator, resigned on Friday after using a racial slur aimed at fellow lawmakers during an expletive-filled rant earlier in the week.

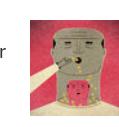

1h New York food businesses joined in "A Day Without Bread," a protest in support of workers who may be fired by a Queens bakery under an immigration inquiry.

4h In 2015, Xavier Jugelé was among the officers who responded to the terrorist attack at the Bataclan in Paris. On Thursday, he was killed in an attack claimed by the Islamic State.

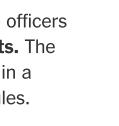

4h What is Hawaii? You may have questions about the 50th state, an archipelago in the Pacific Ocean. Many Americans do. Here are some answers.

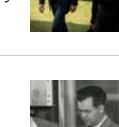

4h Emma Rice, the departing artistic director of Shakespeare's Globe, wrote that she learned not "to allow myself to be excluded from the rooms where decisions are made."

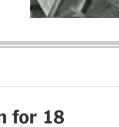

5h The Philippines sent its top military officials to a disputed island in the South China Sea to reinforce the country's claim. China challenged the flight at least four times.

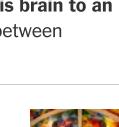

6h A movie to be broadcast on the Lifetime network relives the 2015 escape of two convicted murderers from a maximum-security prison in upstate New York.

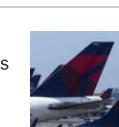

8h One of eight inmates scheduled to be executed in Arkansas was put to death Thursday, but legal challenges have effectively stopped four other executions.

8h In Chile's desert, it looks like someone intentionally swept gypsum crystals into 15-foot-high piles. Scientists say whirlwinds they call gravel devils are responsible.

9h Oprah Winfrey and Rose Byrne star in the HBO movie "The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks," a tale that deserved more time, our critic writes.

9h Levothyroxine, a widely prescribed thyroid drug, has no significant effect for most older patients with slightly underactive thyroids, according to a recent study.

10h "We Wanted a Revolution: Black Radical Women, 1965-85" at the Brooklyn Museum offers a textured view of the political past, our art critic writes.

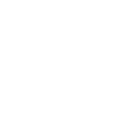

12h Google Earth Voyager lets desktop travelers visit museums, the streets of Paris, Hemingway's haunts and more. You can even tour Afghanistan with a muppet.

12h Vietnamese villagers took officials and police officers hostage to protest against eviction attempts. The standoff highlights struggles to allocate land in a Communist country with murky ownership rules.

14h "The X-Files" will return. Fox says 10 more episodes of the sci-fi classic will air during the 2017-18 TV season, and that David Duchovny and Gillian Anderson will take part.

21h Harry Huskey, who helped build the first personal computer, a device the size of two refrigerators, has died. He was 101.
