

Great journalism
needs you.

April 8, 2017

The Washington Post

Democracy Dies in Darkness

Support the work.
Start for 99¢

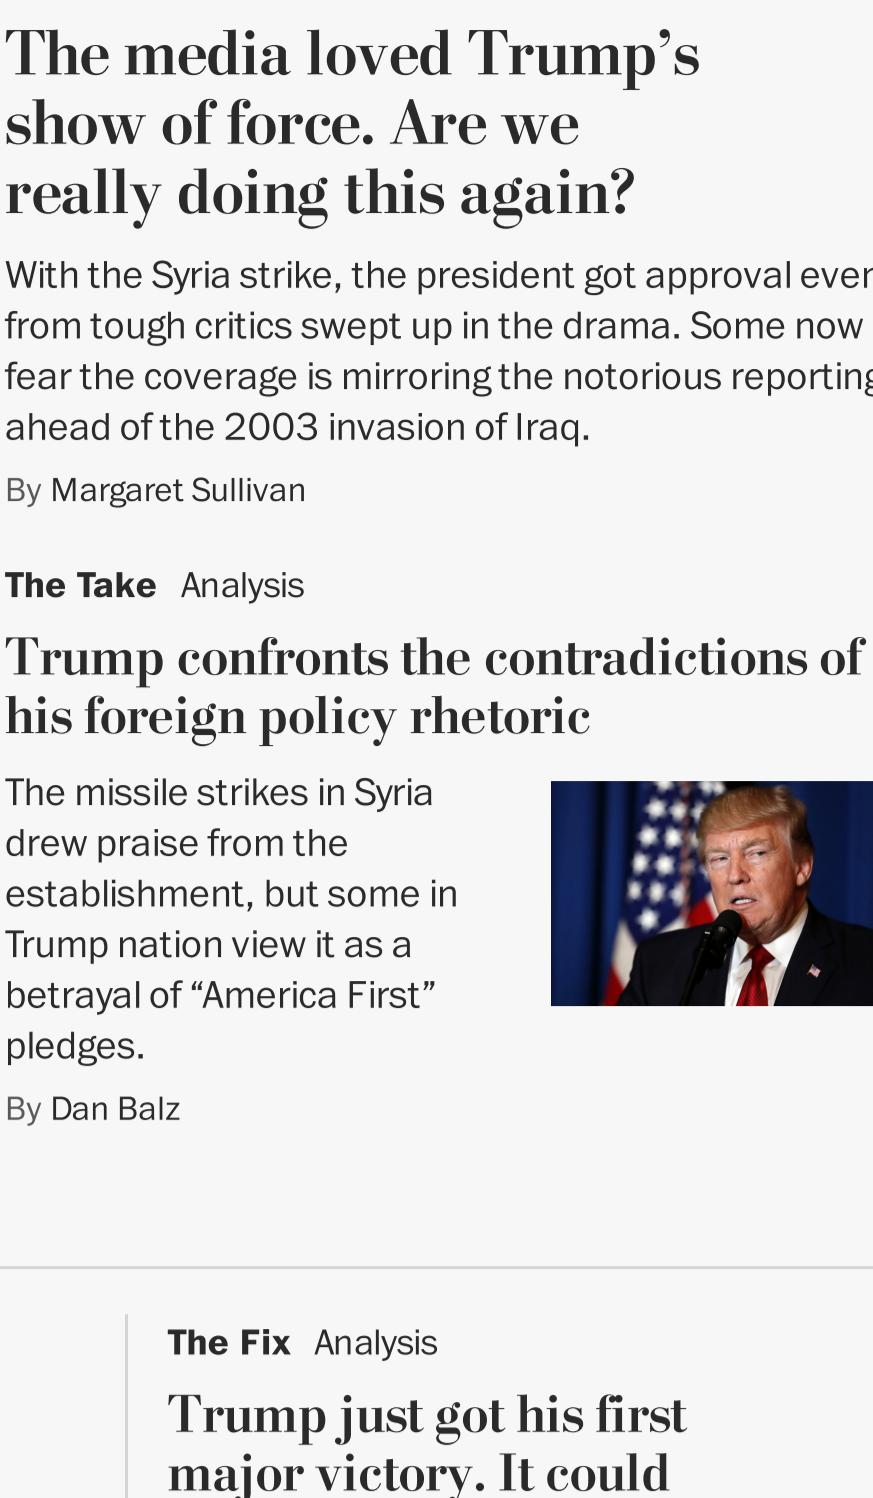

Edition: U.S. & World | Regional

In the News Airbnb host Jupiter Steve Bannon Wisconsin manhunt ICE legislation Putin photo Mexican reporter April the giraffe Electric planes

From 'America first' to striking Syria: The inside story of Trump's decision

Insiders describe the emotion and deliberation leading to Trump's order to strike a Syrian air base. But while the "awful" footage of children suffering played a role in his decision, Trump was eager for a clear victory more than two months into his tumultuous presidency.

By Ashley Parker, David Nakamura and Dan Lamothe

Brian Williams reports from Iraq in 2007. The MSNBC anchor was criticized this week for his coverage of the Syrian airstrikes. (NBC)

Perspective

The media loved Trump's show of force. Are we really doing this again?

With the Syria strike, the president got approval even from tough critics swept up in the drama. Some now fear the coverage is mirroring the notorious reporting ahead of the 2003 invasion of Iraq.

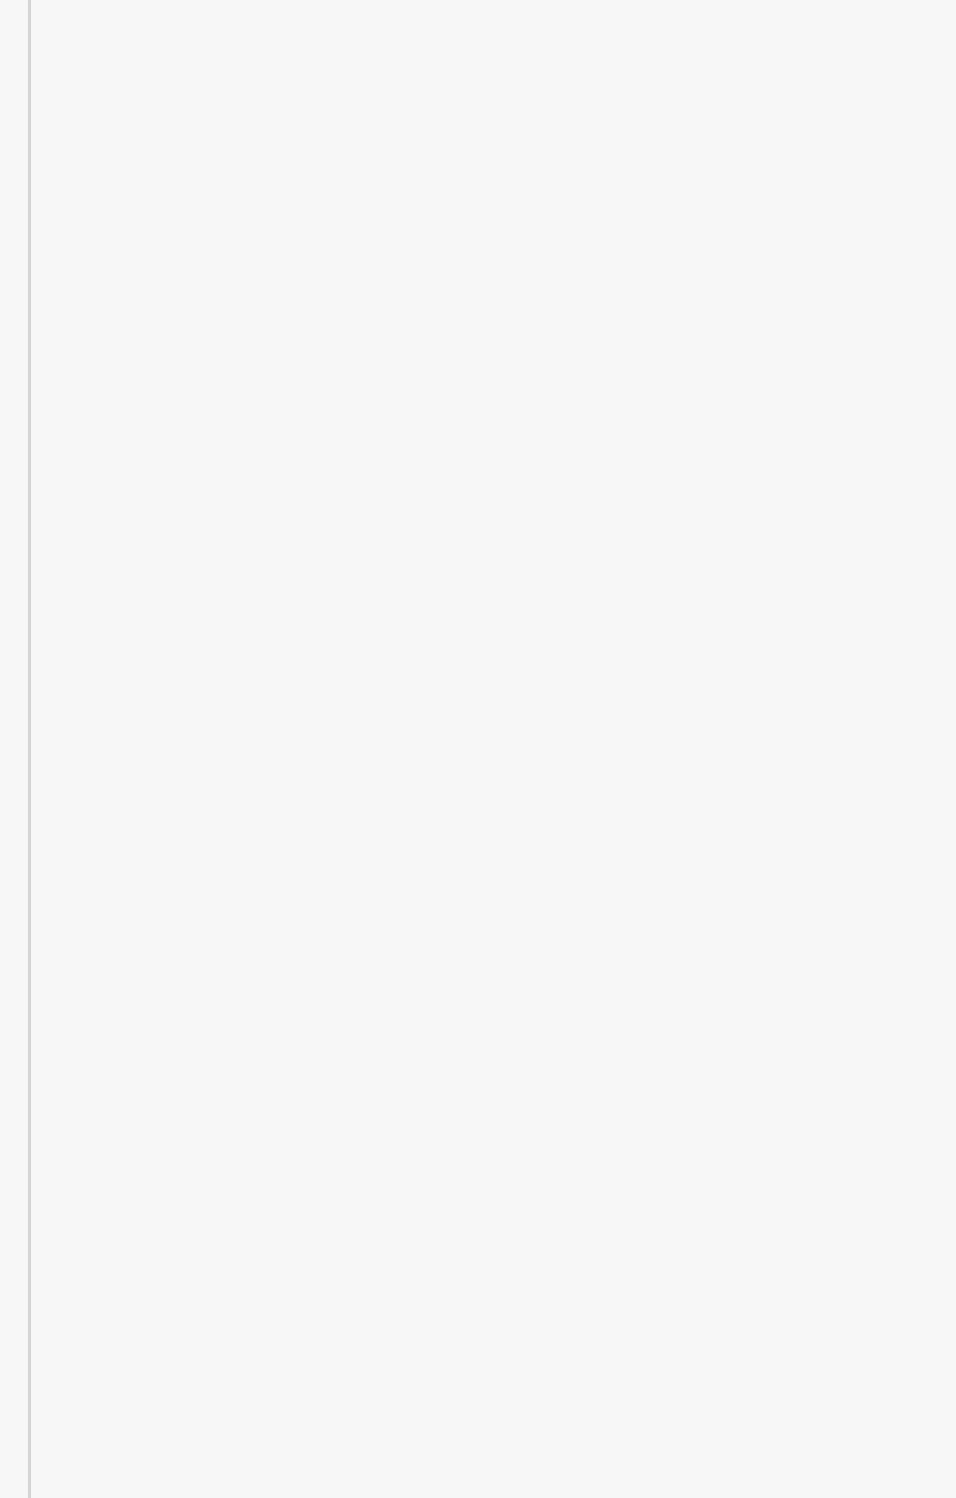

By Margaret Sullivan

The Take Analysis

Trump confronts the contradictions of his foreign policy rhetoric

The missile strikes in Syria drew praise from the establishment, but some in Trump nation view it as a betrayal of "America First" pledges.

By Dan Balz

Warplanes return to Syrian town devastated by chemical attack

Within 24 hours of U.S. strikes, monitoring groups reported that jets were taking off from the bombed air base once again.

By Louisa Loveluck and Zakaria Zakaria • 3 hours ago

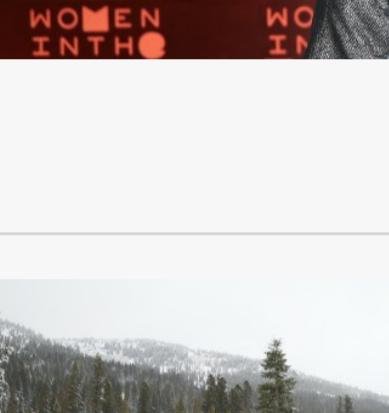

After strikes, challenge for Trump is crafting long-term Syria strategy

The question is whether the president can find a way to capitalize in the coming days on the momentum from the assault on Syrian President Bashar al-Assad's airbase.

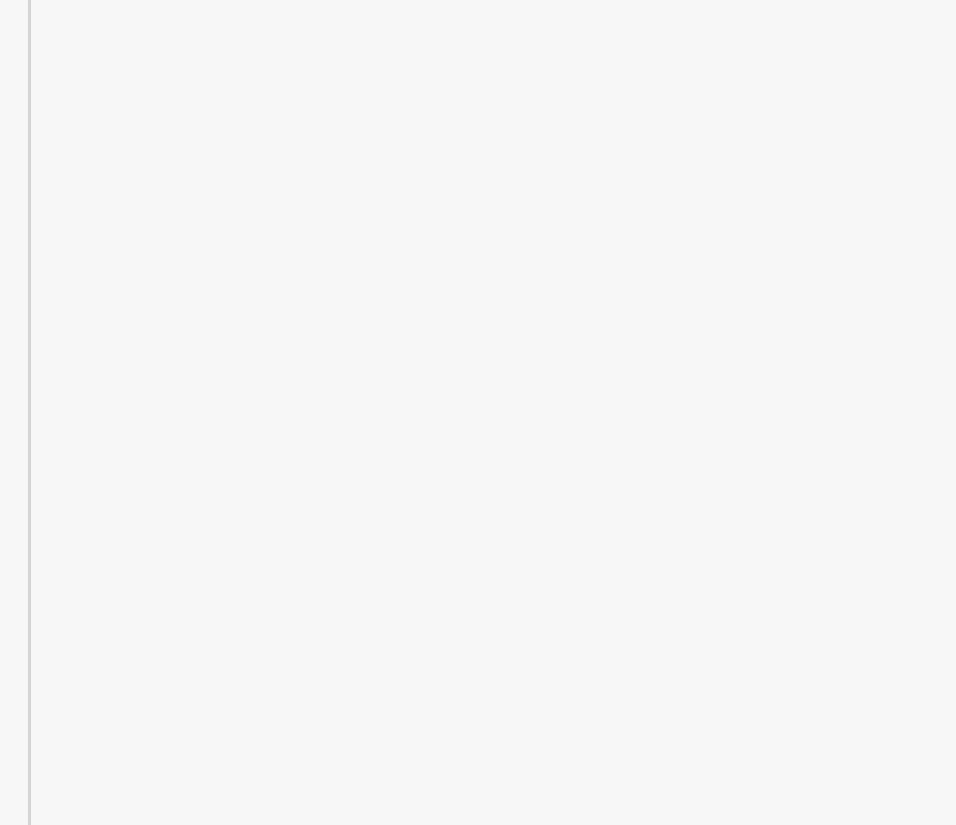

By Greg Jaffe and Missy Ryan

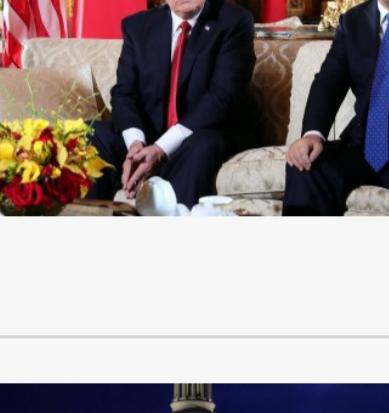

Syrian-American activists say they're skeptical of U.S. intervention

Analysis: Trump's missile strike on Syria might be satisfying. But it's not legal.

Immediate impact: Gorsuch could play pivotal role on court starting next week

The new justice is likely to consider how voting rights should be protected and whether to expand the breadth of the Second Amendment. He may even cast the deciding vote in a major case on the separation of church and state.

By Robert Barnes and Ed O'Keefe

The Fix Analysis

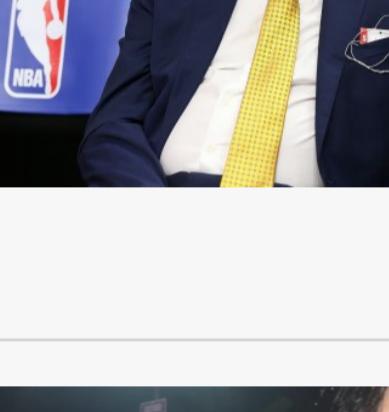

Trump just got his first major victory. It could be his last for a while.

Unless Republicans want to blow up Senate rules even further, it's very likely that for the next two-ish years of this Congress, Trump's proposals will be dead on arrival in a severely partisan Senate.

By Amber Phillips

• Gorsuch is confirmed, restoring court's conservative tilt

Opinions

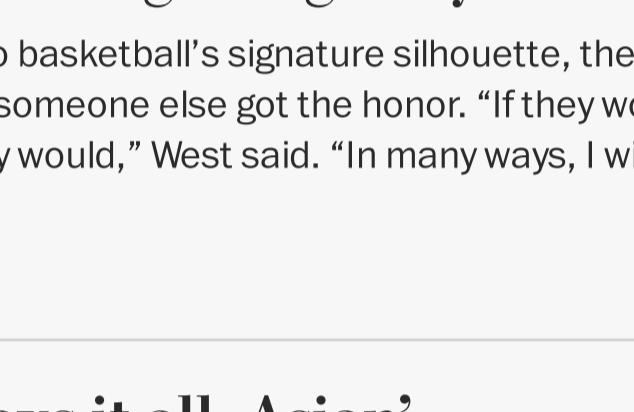

Sen. Mitch McConnell: Democrats reap what they have sown

Ivanka Trump and the Cult of the First Daughter

By Alyssa Rosenberg

Mitch McConnell, the man who broke America

By Dana Milbank

George W. Bush: PEPFAR saves millions of lives in Africa. Keep it fully funded.

Bill O'Reilly brings sexual harassment back out of the shadows

Editorial Board

More Top Stories

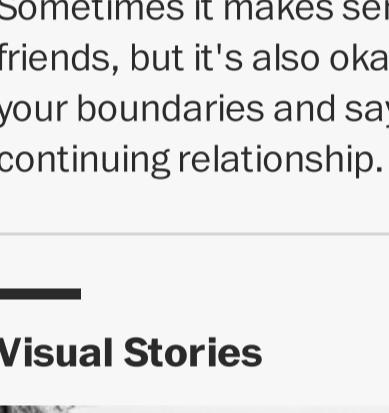

Sweden arrests suspect in truck rampage that killed 4

Authorities did not divulge the man's name, but said he is a 39-year-old from Uzbekistan who had been known to security services as "a marginal character" for the past year.

By Heba Habib and Griff Witte • 3 hours ago

• Analysis: It's nearly impossible to stop terrorists from using trucks as weapons. But cities are trying.

The Fix Analysis

Hillary Clinton says 'misogyny played a role' in her loss. Research suggests she might be right.

Studies have demonstrated that voters hold female politicians to a different standard: They have to think about what their clothes, hair, smiles and children project to voters in a way that men just don't.

By Amber Phillips

California governor declares state's historic drought over — for now

Thirsty California lawns that had faded to brown from a lack of water in four extraordinarily dry years have revived to bright green in neighborhoods across the state.

By Scott Smith | AP

Analysis

The president has visited a Trump-branded property every 2.8 days of his presidency

Today he's at Trump International golf course in West Palm Beach. (At this point, he's golfed every 5.6 days he's been in office.)

By Philip Bump • 1 hour ago

Analysis

Why you should stop blaming gerrymandering so much. Really.

According to new data, it's clear that there's something larger than just redistricting happening here — namely, our own natural, political sorting. And that's a much bigger reason for our polarization and Republicans' House advantage than anything else.

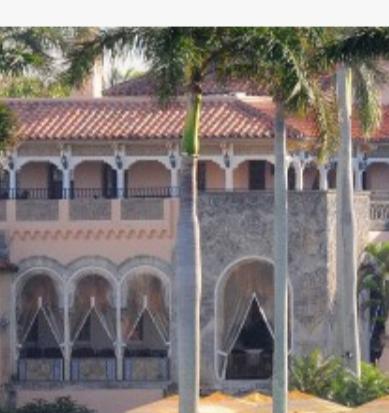

By Aaron Blake

'If I were the NBA, I would be embarrassed': Jerry West doesn't want to be the league logo anymore

After decades as pro basketball's signature silhouette, the Lakers legend thinks it's high time someone else got the honor. "If they would want to change it, I wish they would," West said. "In many ways, I wish they would."

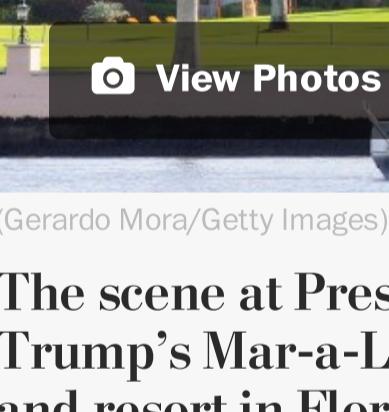

By Des Bieler

'One word says it all. Asian': Airbnb host reportedly leaves guest stranded because of her race

"I'm an American citizen," Dyne Suh said in a video after the abrupt cancellation. "It stings."

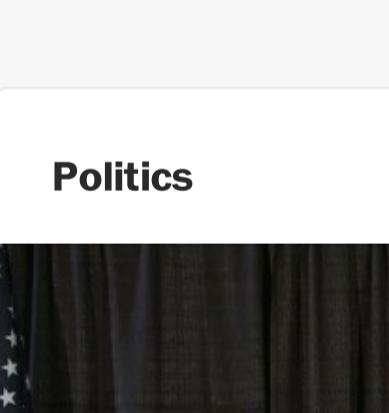

By Amy B Wang

Behold, the Hubble Telescope's latest close-up of Jupiter

The image revealed no new discoveries on the giant planet. It was just a reminder that a decades-old space telescope is still doing what it has done best: astonishing Earthlings with spectacularly detailed pictures.

By Amy B Wang

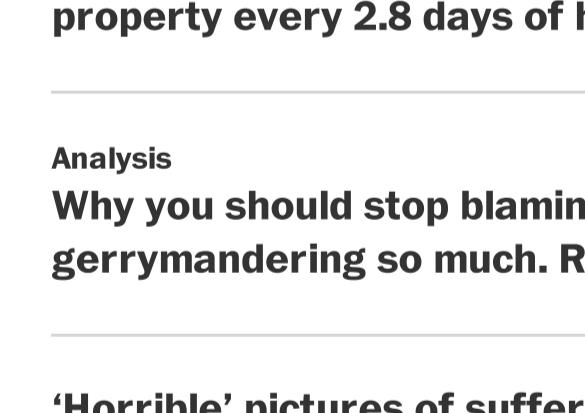

Share news tips with us confidentially

Do you have information the public should know? Here are some ways you can securely send information and documents to Post journalists.

Learn more »

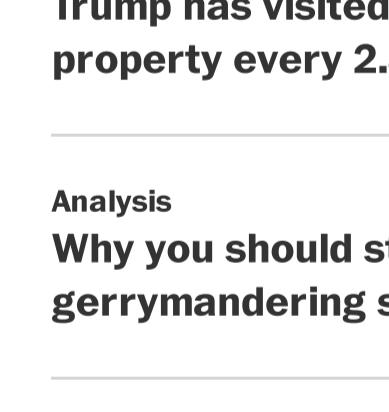

Solo-ish

When you should stay pals with an ex

Sometimes it makes sense to be friends, but it's also okay to honor your boundaries and say no to a continuing relationship.

Perspective

What intelligence officials really mean when they talk about 'unmasking'

The job market is trucking along, but there is a worrying sign of rising inequality.

Perspective

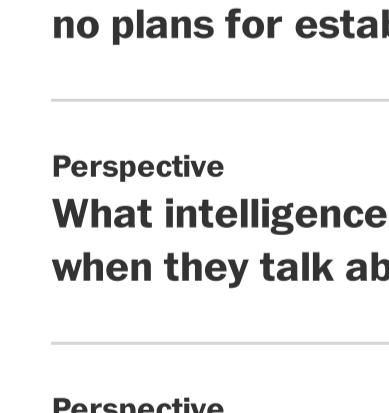

Who is a better ally for the United States: China or Russia?

"I'm officially off the Trump Train": Trump's online base is furious about the Syria strikes

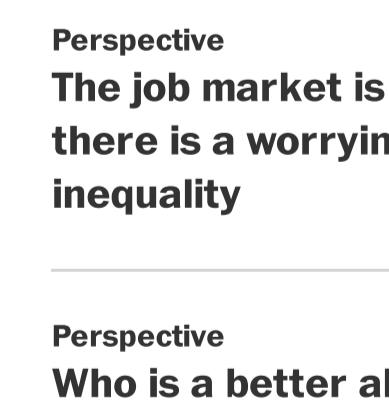

Perspective

Trump might be going to war. But he has no plans for establishing peace.

Perspective

Carolyn Hax: Time for the define-the-relationship talk?

Lifestyle

Politics

Sean Spicer's completely avoidable mistake at Friday's briefing

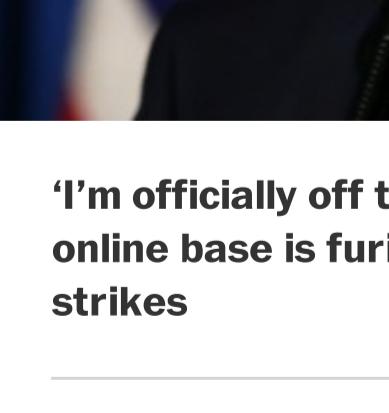

Analysis

Trump has visited a Trump-branded property every 2.8 days of his presidency

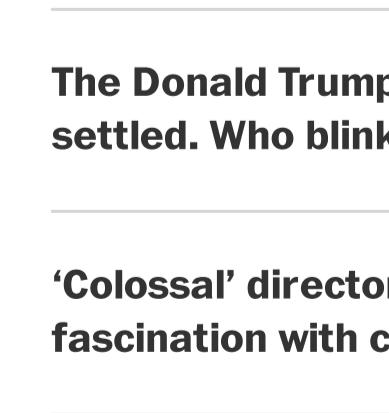

Analysis

Why you should stop blaming gerrymandering so much. Really.

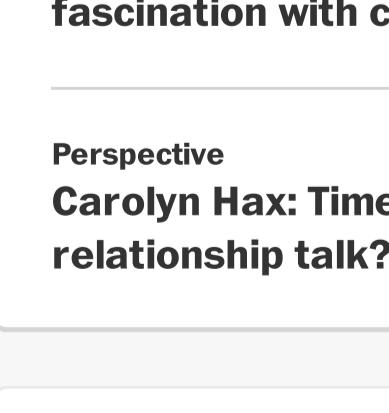

Analysis

'Horrible' pictures of suffering moved Trump to action on Syria

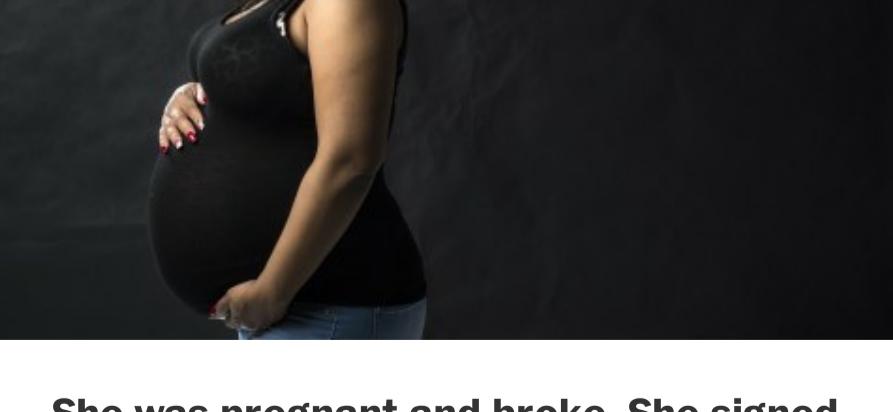

Perspective

What intelligence officials really mean when they talk about 'unmasking'

Visual Stories

In Sight

'Where you go to fill up your tank and shut off your brain': America as seen at the Pump

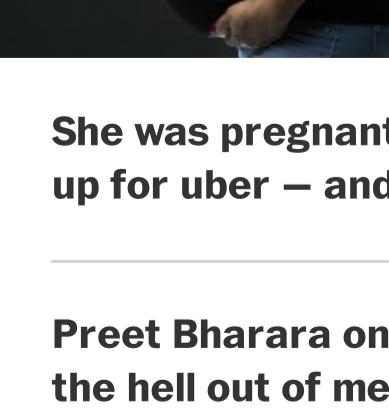

Graphic

Vote count: How the Senate changed its rules and confirmed Gorsuch

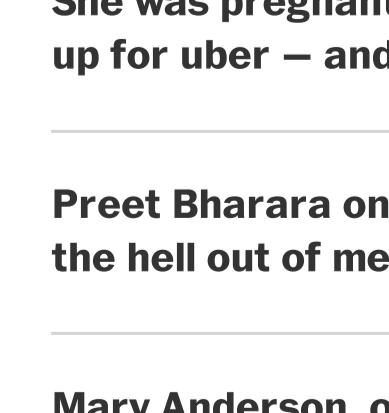

Graphic

California governor declares state's historic drought over — for now

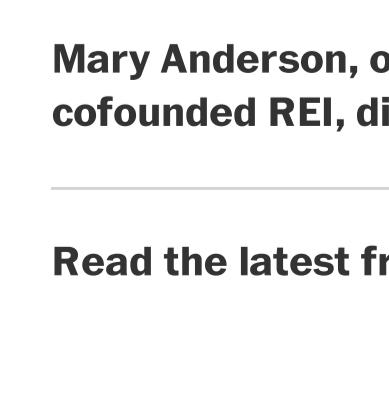

Graphic

California governor declares end to drought emergency

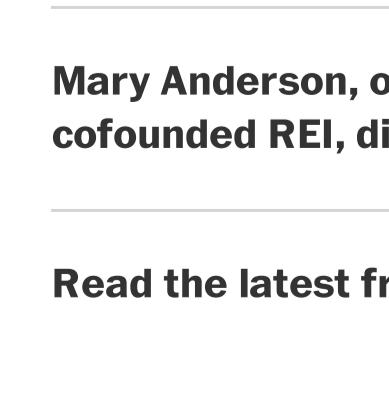

Graphic

Diabetes is even deadlier than we thought, study suggests

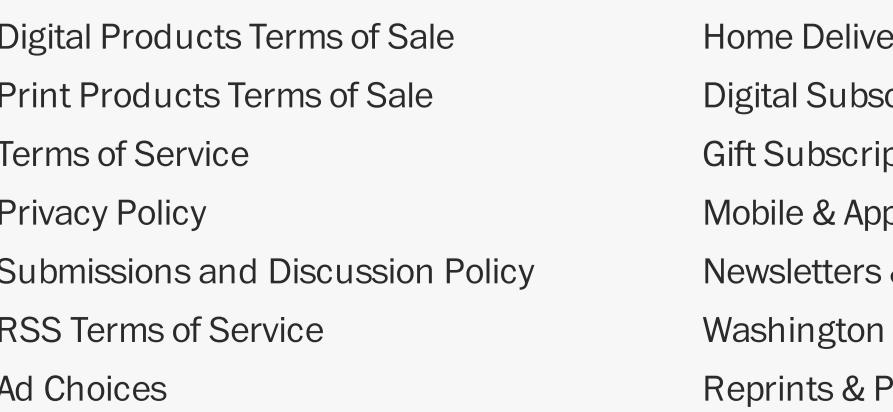

Graphic

A giraffe gave birth on camera! But it wasn't April, star of an addictive live stream.

Business

She was pregnant and broke. She signed up for Uber — and fell into debt.

Preet Bharara

on why he was fired: 'Beats the hell out of me.'

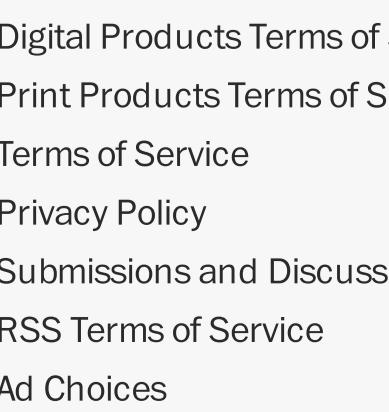

Mary Anderson

outdoorswoman who cofounded REI, dies at 107

Graphic

Read the latest from Capital Business

PostEverything

Perspective