House Republicans continue push for a health-care bill, even if it goes nowhere in the Senate

The messy effort to rally their party around a plan to revise the Affordable Care Act has forced House leaders to focus on one goal: pass a bill they can say repeals Obamacare to shield their members in next year's elections. But that is proving elusive.

▶ An organic dairy? 4:00

(The Washington Post)

Is your 'organic' milk really organic? Critics say big farms' standards can fall short.

Visits by The Washington Post to dairy farms that produce milk for the house brands of Walmart, Costco and other major retailers raise questions about whether large farms meet organic standards. If organic farms violate organic rules, consumers are being misled and overcharged.

Former S.C. officer to plead guilty in killing of Walter Scott, an unarmed black man whose shooting was caught on video

Michael Slager, who worked for the North Charleston Police Department, had faced both federal civil rights and state murder charges in connection with the April 2015 shooting of the 50-year-old unarmed motorist. The incident was captured on camera by a bystander, and the graphic footage rocketed around news stations and the Internet.
