Trump says Paris attack will have 'big effect' on French vote

The president did not elaborate in his tweet on how the latest apparent Islamist-linked violence could sway Sunday's vote, but far-right candidate Marine Le Pen has raised many of the same anti-immigrant and security issues that were pushed by Trump during his campaign.

How Berkeley has become the far left and far right's battleground

The back-and-forth about conservative pundit Ann Coulter's planned appearance at the university in this liberal haven comes after repeated violent outbursts at protests and speeches on this campus and elsewhere since President Trump's election.

By Perry Stein and William Wan

- Ann Coulter rejects Berkeley's new invite — and a lawsuit may be pending

He robbed banks and went to prison. His time there put him on track for a new job: Georgetown law professor.

Shon Hopwood's new job as a tenure-track faculty member is only the latest improbable twist in a remarkable life.

He probably never would have found the law, he said, if he had not gone to prison.
