Tax Plan Gives Favorable Rate to Businesses Big and Small

By JULIE HIRSCHFELD DAVIS, ALAN RAPPAPORT, KATE KELLY and RACHEL ABRAMS

- Republicans are likely to embrace President Trump's proposed 15-percent business tax rate.
- But the plan omits a substantial tax on imports advocated by House Republicans, which would have raised revenue to offset the deep cuts.

Tax Cuts Pay for Themselves? Revival of Contested Theory

By PETER BAKER

Underpinning Mr. Trump's plan is a decades-old theory that cutting taxes spurs enough growth to generate new tax revenue.

Trump Is Barred From Punishing 'Sanctuary Cities'

By VIVIAN YEE

A federal judge in California temporarily halted the administration's efforts to withhold funding from cities that limit their cooperation with federal immigration enforcement.
