First 100 Days

After a tumultuous start, Trump hopes for a smoother agenda on jobs, taxes

But the next few months will not get any easier for the president. While Republicans have control of Congress and set the agenda, they have few opportunities to pass partisan priorities before turning to a series of complicated subjects that require bipartisan action.

By Abby Phillip and Ed O'Keefe

The Take Analysis*Republicans are tethered to Trump politically and need to act accordingly

Midterm losses in the House are the norm for the party in power, and the president isn't helping the GOP's cause.

By Dan Balow

Trump opens 100-day rally assailing media gathered for correspondents' dinner

The president, speaking in Harrisburg, Pa., dismissed the White House Correspondents' Association dinner as "a large group of Hollywood actors and Washington media" who he said were "consoling each other in a hotel ballroom."

Grungy, interesting and with plenty of quirk on tap: America's most authentic dive bars

We hit the road to find the diviest of dives based on these guidelines: They must have history; they must have regulars; they can't be expensive; they can't have craft cocktails. Here are eight bars from across the nation that have risen to the surface.

Peoples Climate March unites a crowd protesting rollbacks of environmental protections

The rally — which drew thousands to the capital's streets on a sweltering day — is directed at the Trump administration, which must decide whether to remain in the Paris climate accord.

With Trump absent, it's a different sort of event

Without anyone from the administration in attendance, the normally celebrity-filled event is more subdued — and it has competition from Samantha Bee's event.

Reliable Source*This year's White House correspondents' dinner weekend is putting the 'nerd' back in 'nerd prom'

There are still plenty of parties, but instead of gift bags and humble brags, now you get a lecture.
